Explains county's role

A representative of Transplan, the planning agency hired by Wayne County, explains county's roles and objectives at a public information meeting last week (Tuesday) on Metro Airport in city council chambers. Some 200 residents turned out to voice their viewpoints on airport operation and a two-year study of the huge air depot.

Public meeting draws comments

Residents 'skeptical' over airport's expansion study

Romulus residents told airport planners and Wayne County Road Commission officials at a public meeting last week that they were "highly skeptical" over the eventual outcome of a two-year study of Metro Airport begun four months ago.

The meeting, which attracted some 200 residents to the city council chambers, was billed by the county as a "public information meeting." It included lengthy introductions by planning consultants, an hour of slide presentation and another hour of questions from the audience.

After the meeting, many residents still had unanswered questions over the effects any future expansion suggested by the study may have on their lives, families and property.

A number of people who attended the meeting, conducted by Transplan Incorporated, publicly accused the county of bringing in a consulting firm to "do their (the county's) dirty work" in breaking the news of possible future expansion of the airport facility.

Transplan is the most recent consulting firm in a long line of planners engaged by the county since the 1950's to attempt to predict the future of air travel at Metro and to plan accordingly.

By the county's own admission, past studies have often been highly inaccurate, greatly over-estimating the total growth of air travel out of the giant landing site.

While the number of passengers enplaned at Metro has grown from 500,000 in 1950 to 4.2 million in 1977, there has actually been a steady decline in Detroit's share of total passengers in the United States. In 1950, Metro handled 2.75 percent of all U.S. air passengers. By the year 2000, Transplan forecasts only 1.5 percent of the market will use the Metro facility.

However, due to the new discount air rates and an improving economy, that 1.5 percent will represent approximately 10 million passengers annually.

The planners said it was too early to tell what all this will mean to Romulus residents living under or near the flight paths.

The planners did say that Metro has recorded a 14 percent growth rate this year and that they will have that analyzed along with other contributing data within the next eight months.

Currently, the Transplan spokesman said Metro terminals are operating at full capacity and that parking is already over-crowded and inadequate.

Whether this means more land acquisition and an expanded runway system in the near future remains unanswered, at least for now.

Robert Larson, Wayne County Road Commission spokesman, did assert that rumors of county plans to purchase additional land south of Eureka Road are, "totally untrue."

Huron could close schools

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The upcoming millage election Sept. 7 in the Huron School District carries with it dire implications.

Not only will it delay opening of school for students by four days, but failure of both millage propositions could even spell the end for public education in the four schools operated by the district.

According to Phil Dalley, administrative assistant to Supt. Bryon Antcliff, the opening of school for students was originally scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 6, but will be delayed until Monday, Sept. 11 because of the Sept. 7 millage election.

Scheduled for discussion by the school board Monday, Aug. 21, are program priorities in the eventuality that one or both millage propositions pass or both fail, Dalley said.

He said the board has already written to John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, on what it could do after results of the millage elections are tabulated.

If both millage proposals fail - a 10 mill renewal for one year and an additional 2.24 mills for one year - the school district could very well be faced with the prospect of closing its doors for good.

Dalley pointed out that is just one of the alternatives that the Huron School District could be forced to follow should both millage proposals go down the drain.

Even if the 10-mill renewal passes and the additional 2.24 mill levy fails, he said the board would probably have to make some cutbacks in school operation.

Another avenue open to the Huron board should one or both millage proposals be defeated would be an appeal to the Michigan Legislature for help.

The coming Sept. 7 millage election will mark the third election this year in which Huron School District voters will be asked to okay funds for school operation.

On March 20, a 10-mill renewal for 10 years was put before voters and on June 12 they were asked to decide on a 10-mill renewal for five years. Both measures went down to defeat.

Since March 20, Dalley explained, the school district's total enrollment will have dropped some 900 students, including those in the adult education program. The drastic cut in revenues prompted the Huron board to put the proposal seeking an additional 2.24 mills on the Sept. 7 ballot.

In fact, Dalley said, the board recently voted to put a cap on the district's adult education program by stipulating that no additional school districts be permitted into Huron's overall program. Currently, Huron's adult education activities reaches into 14 other school districts.

Until the election is over, the Huron board cannot determine how large its budget for the coming 1978-79 school year will be, Dalley said.

Huron will continue, however, to offer its adult education program in those districts with which it has contracted for those services, he said.

Last school year, the Huron School District had 4,003 students enrolled, including those in the adult education program and those pupils from other districts who are paying tuition. This year, Dalley estimated the total will have dwindled to 2,300, including tuition students.

Although the school district should have adopted its budget prior to the Sept. 7 millage election, Dalley said it cannot be done until the election has decided the status of the district's finances. To that end, school officials have notified state and county authorities of the problems and requested a stay until then.

Store owner's wife victim

Armed robber shoots clerk in holdup at local Jo-Jo's

A daring daylight armed robbery late Thursday afternoon in Romulus resulted in the owner's wife of a well-known party store being seriously wounded by one of two armed holdup men.

Reported in "poor condition" Monday at Wayne County General Hospital is Mrs. Barbara Braden, 43, whose husband, Clyde Braden, owns and operates Jo-Jo's Party store, 38839 Huron River Dr., across from the Kelsey-Hayes Co.

Wayne County Sheriff's Department Detectives Bob Pond and Charles Updike, who investigated the holdup and shooting, said it appears that Mrs. Braden has a chance to pull through.

Updike said two white men entered the store about 8:04 p.m., pulled out handguns, announced a holdup and told everyone to lie on the floor.

Mrs. Braden, who was standing behind the counter with her husband, exclaimed, "You've got to be kidding." One of the two men then shot her in the stomach, was given an undisclosed amount of cash

Romulus to restore cutbacks

New school budget may hit $13 million

Proposed budget for the Romulus Public Schools for the coming 1978-79 school year will be in the neighborhood of $13 million, up about $2 million from last year.

'Most of the increase will go to pay for the restoration of programs cutback last year. . .'

Most of the increase will go to pay for the restoration of programs cutback last year, now made possible by successful passage of the 8.5 mills levy, according to Marvin Fischer, assistant superintendent of curriculum.

He said the proposed budget was presented to the Romulus board of education Monday night and that trustees are now digesting its details. By law, the board must approve the coming year's budget by Nov. 1, 1978, Fischer explained. He added that it is possible the board could take action on the budget at its next meeting on Aug. 28.

Even with the boost in finances afforded by the millage okayed by voters, Fischer said it will be a "tight budget". He said little would be left over for frills or new programs.

"We have to consider anticipated expenditures such as boiler breakdowns at the schools and other expenses during wintry weather," he added.

Fischer said a "major bearing on the budget" will be the number of students enrolled on the fourth Friday in September. That figure is used to determine how much state aid the school district will receive in the coming year.

"If the district has more than the approximate 6,200 pupils in had last year, we will get more money," he said. Of course, for the district to receive an appreciably larger amount would require a substantial increase in student enrollment, he said.

Also of importance to the coming year's budget, Fischer said, is the sale of the Romulus Elementary School. Presently, the board had received one bid meeting its minimum requirement of $200,000.

Cranbrook Madison Associates, represented by Leo P. Sklar, has submitted the bid because it wants the land for its proposed senior citizens development, Fischer said.

Whether the board sells the old school or not will have a direct bearing on the total 1978-79 school budget, he added.

He said the board's attorneys are reviewing the bid and that trustees may be in a position to make a decision of the sale at the Aug. 28 meeting.

Ron Tabor seeks Huron vote recount

Ron Tabor, Democrat candidate for the trustee nomination in the Huron Township Aug. 8 primary election, has asked for a recount after losing out for one of two open seats by a slim seven votes to John Puskar.

Puskar, who currently is serving as supervisor, tallied 559 votes to 552 for Tabor. The other nomination went to Fred Ashby, top vote getter with 694 votes.

Clerk Sandra Rhodes said the recount petition will be turned over to the Wayne County Election Commission, whose canvassers will recount the primary votes cast in the township election.

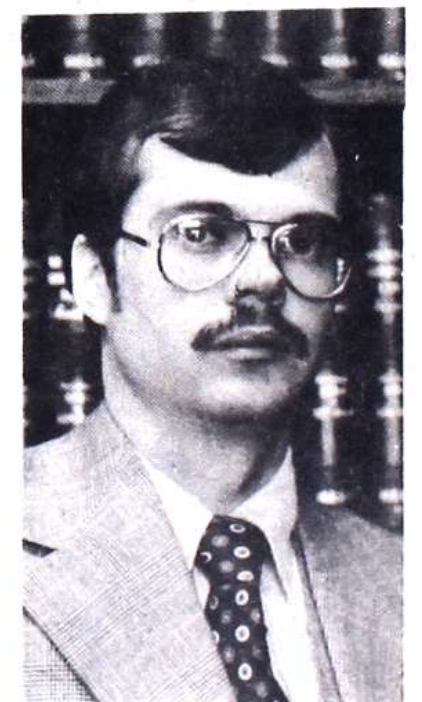

She said the commission will make the final determination on the vote count in the close contest between Puskar and Tabor.

Stanczak, city lawyer, resigns post

Frank Stanczak, attorney for the city of Romulus, left city employment last Thursday to accept a new job assignment with the Marathon Oil Co. in Findlay, Ohio.

Stanczak, who said he was leaving Romulus with "mixed feelings", has been city attorney under Mayor William M. Oakley's administration for the last year. Previous to that time, he had served as assistant city attorney under former Mayor James Stewart.

His successor will have to be recommended to city council members by the mayor and their approval is necessary before the appointment will become official.

FRANK STANCZAK

Stanczak will work in the chemical engineering section for Marathon. In addition to his law degree, he did undergraduate work in chemistry in college. He does anticipate doing some legal work for the oil firm in connection with his new job, he said.

Having just been married in July, Stanczak indicated he was looking forward to a long-term career.

LARRY E. DICKEY

from the cash register and fled out the door with his companion, Updike said.

The detective reported five witnesses were in the store at the time and identified the man as Jack Edward Dickey, 38, whose known addresses include Romulus and Hazel Park. Identity of the second robber has not been ascertained, Updike said.

A warrant charging armed robbery has been issued for Dickey. Updike said the sheriff's department is asking the public's help in locating the two men.

He said they drove off in a 1971 green Chevrolet station wagon with Michigan license number WBB 472. The vehicle can be identified by a damaged left rear fender and a considerable amount of rust, he added.

He asked that anyone having information on the whereabouts of one or both of the two holdup men to contact them at 721-2222 immediately.

Thus far, the investigation has not disclosed why Dickey shot Mrs. Braden, the detective said.

Belleville sophomore named to CMU honors listing

Central Michigan University's winter semester honors list, published recently, included Belleville resident Brian K. Sugden of Fret Road, a sophomore.

He was chosen as an honors student from the top 10 percent of his academic class. To qualify he had to complete 12 or more letter-graded hours of on-campus credit during the semester and had to have a grade point average of no lower than 3.50.

In other college news: There area residents received their college "sheep skins" from Central Michigan, following May commencement ceremonies.

Receiving their degrees were Carolyn S. Dilligam of Harmony Lane, bachelor of science; William John Szlinis of Harbor Lane, bachelor of science in business administration, both of Belleville; and Mark A. Steffen of Tamarack, Flat Rock, bachelor of science in business administration.

Recognition for outstanding scholarship has been extended to four Belleville-Romulus students at Schoolcraft Community College. The foursome was named to the Dean's List for the winter semester. Those students earning a place on the list included Belleville residents Ann E. Kolar, Denise A. Ostrowski and Elizabeth J. Yandric and New Boston resident Peter T. Rakijash.

To make the Dean's List a student must carry at least 12 hours during the semester and must earn a 3.5 or better grade point average.

Owl prowls is Friday

An "Owl Prowl", illustrating the remarkable nighttime habits of the owls found in southeastern Michigan, will be held at the nature center of Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester and Utica at 8 p.m. Friday.

The program will feature slides, mounted specimens of local owls and a discussion of their life history. Park naturalist Roger Bajorek will also lead visitors outdoors and by means of taped owl calls will attempt to lure owls into view.

Advanced registration is required for the free program.

For information or registration contact the nature center of Stony Creek Metropark at 781-4621 (Washington exchange).

by Doug Brown

We are all familiar with the name Peter Tchaikowsky. He being one of the world's great composers. Of interest is that the man who taught Tchaikowsky musical composition is not nearly as well known. His name is Anton Rubenstein. Little Anton was given his first music lesson by his Mother. When he was ten years old, he was taken to Paris from his native Russia where he astonished his audience and also played before Chopin and Liszt. He achieved most of his success as a composer of Russian operas and very brilliant piano pieces. In 1869, the Czar decorated him with the Order of Vladimir, which made him a member of the nobility. He died in 1894 at Peterhof, Russia.

ID badges, dress is studied by board

Identification badges for high school students, proper dress for school personnel and re-installation of doors to secondary school restrooms were added to the agenda and discussed at last week's school board meeting.

Marvin Fischer, assistant superintendent of curriculum, said discussion centered on the possible need of ID cards or badges for secondary students. Students who commit destructive deeds or other wrongful action would not go unpunished for lack of identification, he explained.

The board instructed the administration to report back on cost of the ID program, cost of ID replacement for those lost, and legal ramifications.

Also coming before the board was the dress and appearance of some members of the staff, especially during the summer months. Some trustees felt that summer attire worn by female staff members were too brief.

The board requested the administration to meet with the union groups representing school personnel and to discuss the matter of proper dress.

Bathroom doors, previously taken off for reasons of safety and maintenance, were ordered by the board to be put back on.

Fischer said the board felt the doors would give additional privacy and present a better overall appearance.

Also added to the agenda was a trip to Ypsilanti Sept. 22-23 where board trustees will attend a workshop that is designed to acquaint them with workings of a board of education.

Two tax reform proposals explained by state official

The fine points of the two major tax proposals Michigan voters will find on their November ballots were explained in detail to Romulus residents recently by Douglas B. Roberts, deputy director of the Office of Tax Analysis of the Michigan OMB (Office of Management and Budget).

Hosted by City Council members Mary Ann Banks, Beverly McNally and Jerry Canejo, Roberts began his presentation by telling the crowd that, as a bureaucrat he could "live with whichever proposal wins the voter's approval in November."

He said, that as an individual, he supports the Headlee amendment over the Tisch proposal, whose supporters barely met the filing deadline last month.

Roberts characterized the two proposed constitutional amendments, named after their principal sponsors, as a "tax limitation" proposal (Headlee) and a "tax shift" proposal (Tisch).

Beginning with the Tisch proposal Roberts listed its major provisions:

a) a 50 percent reduction of local property taxes, b) a limit of 2.5 percent in annual assessment increases and c) a 5.6 percent limit on the state income tax.

Assuming the Tisch proposal wins, the state would stand to lose $1.75 billion in reduced property tax revenues. If that happens, Roberts said, "the state would almost certainly feel compelled to make up most of the lost revenue by raising other taxes, like a one percent increase in state income tax, a two percent increase in the single business tax and possible a one percent school district income tax, among others."

For this reason, Roberts said, the Tisch amendment must be characterized as a "tax shift." The big losers under such a shift would be high-income persons, renters, (who make up 22 percent of the state's population), senior citizens with taxable incomes, and professional and service businesses operated by barbers, lawyers, doctors, beauticians, etc.

Roberts then went on to explain the Headlee proposal. It would: a) tie state spending to income by limiting revenues to their current ratio as a percentage of total state income, b) limit revenue from local property assessment increases to an amount no greater than the rate of inflation and c) forbid increases in local property taxes without a vote of the people.

Whereas no taxes would be cut under the Headlee plan, the total take would be limited. Headlee would limit all taxes, rather than just property taxes and income taxes, as proposed by Tisch, Roberts explained.

A little-known third proposal that may appear on the November ballot called the Tax Voucher system was also discussed.

The voucher system would do away with property taxes for local school support and require the Legislature to increase other taxes to make up the lost revenue.

The money would then be doled out by individual vouchers, not returned to public schools via the traditional state aid formula.

The result, say its chief backers, the Michigan Catholic Conference, would be that children could attend the public or private school of their parents' choice.

The problem with this approach, according to Roberts, is that this is just another "tax shift" with the difference being made up in other taxes.

After opening the meeting to questions from the audience, someone asked what would happen if the tax proposals both pass.

Roberts said he felt the courts would probably rule the proposal with the highest number of votes would be declared the winner.

He did say that if the Tisch amendment passes, it will mean an increase in other state taxes such as the single business tax and nuisance taxes, plus the possible imposition of user fees or new or increased local taxes.

"The tax structure that is likely to result," Roberts concluded, "would be more regressive than the current tax structure in Michigan and less conducive to economic growth."

Local girl makes good

Ex-choir singer now is vocalist

A former Romulus Resident, who as a small girl sang in the choir and as a soloist in area churches, is now branching out into entertainment field as a featured vocalist.

Miss Linda Ruth Askew currently is the featured vocalist on weekends at the Rufflers near Bloomington, Ind. During the week, she is employed by a Bloomington hospital in a federally-funded home makers program.

Her mother, Mrs. Ethel Askew, who still lives in Romulus with her husband, Moses and family, said Linda has her heart set on a singing career and would like to come back to Michigan or Canada.

The fourth oldest of nine children,

Linda began singing in area churches when she was five years old. Parishoners at the First Baptist Church in Romulus and the Congregational Church in Wayne would remember her, her mother said.

While still in high school, Linda took singing lessons from Mrs. Opal Huty of Wayne and has continued her musical studies at both Olivet College and Eastern Michigan University. She received a bachelor's degree in science from EMU.

Five years ago, Linda traveled to Europe with the EMU choir. More recently, a film being made in Indiana on a bicycle marathon theme will show her in a street scene.

Her mother said her hobby is raising horses and which she still pursues in Indiana.

Both of her parents are employed by the Ford Motor Co.

Residents are wary of study

"polite interest" to impatience at this point, after 2½ hours of slides and studies presented by Transplan officials.

After that, shouts of "Turn off the projector" and "You're putting us to sleep with your slides" rang out from the darkened auditorium.

At that point, the meeting was opened to a barrage of questions from the assembled listeners.

The majority centered around questions of what, if anything, the county will do to reimburse residents for lowered property values because of the existence of the airport and the adverse living environment it creates.

Another resident challenged

Transplan planners to consider the plight of individuals who may be adversely affected by an expanded airport, and to alter their proposal accordingly.

Another landowner maintained that because his land is under a busy flight path, "I can't do anything but pay taxes on it. I'll probably end up being buried under it," he concluded.

Another angry resident accused pilots ("air jockeys") of deliberately increasing their speed just prior to landing causing all his dishes to rattle and windows to vibrate.

When quizzed about any FAA regulation governing the height aircraft must attain soon after takeoff, an FAA representative present said there were no such guidelines.

However, he did say airlines do encourage their pilots to climb quickly after takeoff "to keep the noise level to a minimum."

Mayor William M. Oakley, Clerk Leonard Folmar and City Council members Beverly McNally, Mary Carter, Ray Cantrell and Jerry Canejo were present during the presentation.

The next scheduled public meeting is set for the end of December. By that time, Transplan hopes to have more specific details available for release regarding the future of Metro and its affects on Romulus.

Residents seek help

Meadows crime to be aired

Concerned residents of the Meadows Subdivision are scheduled to meet with Romulus Mayor

William M. Oakley and officials of the Neighborhood Watch Program Wednesday, Aug. 30, to hear how crime in their area can be curbed.

The discussion will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Hale Creek School Auditorium.

Representatives of the Neighborhood Watch Program will hand out literature, answer questions from the audience and help organize a watch type program in the Meadows.

During the last few months, many residents of the Meadows have met with Oakley and members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department because of the upsurge in crime in their neighborhood.

The National Neighborhood Watch Program was first started in 1972 by the National Sheriff's Association in response to the requests of hundreds of sheriffs and police chiefs across the nation for a program to help them stem increasing burglaries and vandalism in suburban residential areas.

Since the national program began, it has been a demonstrated success in hundreds of counties and cities throughout the nation, its backers declared.

The public is invited to attend the Aug. 30 session.

To fill two vacancies

Marshall, Rusnock named to W-W board

Donald Rusnock of Westland and Kenneth Marshall of Wayne were picked Aug. 15 to fill the two vacancies on the Wayne-Westland Board of Education.

They were appointed by unanimous votes by the five remaining members of the board. Marshall, 49, of Elm Street, Wayne, replaced Vincent Petitpren, who was removed from the board by his fellow board members because of a possible conflict of interest because Petitpren is also school superintendent of Taylor schools. That removal was upheld when Petitpren challenged it in Circuit Court, although the decision is being appealed.

Rusnock, 28, of Selma Street, Westland, replaces Agnes Greene, who announced by letter her resignation just Monday night.

Both men will serve until next June's annual school elections. If they wish to remain on the board, they will have to seek election.

The board members picked the two men from a field of about 10 "candidates" who had applied for the position. At Monday night's regular board meeting, president Fred Warmbier appointed a committee of three board members — himself, Robert Reichard and Gerard McGrath — to interview the applicants privately. The number on the interviewing committee was kept at three so that there would not be a quorum of the board present, and, therefore, the discussions would not have to be public in compliance with the Open Meetings Act.

The special meeting was called for Aug. 15 to make the appointments, although the board could have taken longer in filling Mrs. Greene's seat, if it had so chosen.

Kenneth Marshall has been a resident of the community for 14 years. He is married and has two children attending Wayne-Westland schools. He's been employed by Delta Airlines for 22 years, as chief agent in charge of airport passenger service.

Marshall has been an active Washington School PTA member, serving as president in 1975-76. He's also been a Boy Scout and Cub Scout leader for eight years and has assisted with the band program at Wayne Memorial High School. He is a Wayne Rotary Club member, and has been secretary of the organization for the past two years. He was president of the Wayne Goodfellows in 1977-78.

In filling out a questionnaire for the board, he said "a good citizen should be active in the community, and I want to help provide for continuing excellence in the Wayne-Westland Schools."

Rusnock has lived in the community for 15 years, is married with one child at Madison School. He's been an employee of the State of Michigan, Department of Mental Health, for two years as a mental health administrator.

He was elected to be president of the Madison School PTA for the coming school year, although he probably will give up the job because of the appointment.

He has been chairperson of the Westland Human Relations Commission, and a board member of the Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City Community Mental Health Center. In his comments, he said he feels he has "a deep understanding of the needs of the district and an awareness of what parents want."

Mrs. Greene vacates school board position

Agnes Greene resigned from her seat on the Wayne-Westland Community Schools' Board of Education Aug. 14.

In a letter to the board, she told them that "it will be impossible for me to finish the last year of my term of office," but added that "32 years of service to the school district will not be easy to forget."

Mrs. Greene, a retired teacher who taught English and was a counselor in the Wayne-Westland district for 28 years, has moved to Oregon with her husband, Earl. The couple have family members there, and had planned a retirement there. Mrs. Greene's resignation was not unexpected, although most school insiders figured she would remain on the board through the end of this year.

Apparently, Mrs. Greene and her husband were recently visiting in Oregon and were presented with the home and chance to move earlier than expected.

In her brief letter to the board, she said: "I have enjoyed working with all of you and wish you the best as you face some difficult years ahead."

Coincidentally, the board already had rounded up about 10 applicants who wanted to be appointed to fill the vacancy created by Vincent Petitpren, so the members decided to choose Mrs. Greene's replacement right away.

Donald Rusnock of Westland replaces her. Kenneth Marshall of Wayne was picked to replace Petitpren.

Mrs. Greene was first elected in 1975, unseating incumbent Anne Harbison. Mrs. Greene had retired from the district teaching staff in 1972, and was looking to find a place on the other side of the fence. She taught at Wayne High School (now Wayne Memorial) for 15 years, and later became a counselor there. During that time, her children attended Wayne-Westland schools. She lived in Wayne before moving to Oregon.

Biking day is Sept. 9

Avid bike fans should get busy and dust off those cycles and oil up the wheels. The Wayne County Road Commission has set aside Sept. 9 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. for their third bike day of 1978.

The "rain or shine" event is the third of four yearly bike days that take place in the middle Rouge Parkway along Hines Drive on an 11½-mile stretch, starting at Ford Road in Dearborn and ending at Haggerty Road in Plymouth Township.

The area will be closed to all motorized vehicles. Parking is not permitted in the park itself. Refreshments can be obtained along the bike route.

A fourth and final Bike Day will take place on Oct. 14 — same time, same place. Wayne County Road Commission Chairman Michael Berry noted that up to 15,000 cyclist have participated in past events.

If you are planning to build your own home, one thing you might consider is the use of solar energy. Though there is still much to learn about the use of solar energy, home heating systems have been developed that can be fitted to almost any new house, as long as there is some exposure to the sun. Hot water heating systems are also available using solar energy. And while you are building is the best time to consider such an energy system, as it is much less expensive and will be more efficient if the energy systems and the house are designed at the same time. Energy is the problem of the future and solar energy may be one of the solutions.

Tax reform will revitalize American life

On Tuesday June 6, 1978, California voters awoke to just another primary election, but by the time lights went off for the night, a new era had dawned in America.

That day, a day that will be remembered in our nation's history, witnessed the re-emergence of the concept of democracy. The California voters had overwhelmingly rejected the current governmental drift toward isolated, unresponsive, irresponsible decision making by mostly non-elected officials.

The vehicle which voters rode in their successful counter-attack on "insulated government" was called the Jarvis-Gann Amendment. That amendment, presented to voters as Proposition 13, provided for substantial reductions in the state's property tax levies, as well as provisions for voter control of future state spending. But more importantly, the Jarvis-Gann amendment has gone "where the brave fear to go" and created new and original thought. And at the exact time that new thought was desperately needed.

Beyond the anguished cries of the affected public servants, a new and softer voice is emerging that may hold the promise of an America revitalized.

At a time when this country was slowly drifting toward a general mediocrity, California voters splashed cold water on the principle of government by isolated bureaucracy, cause of that drift. And the shock wave generated is just now subsiding.

In place of the anguished cries of California officials, we hear the beginnings of rational thought relative to the problems facing the community and how those problems may be resolved without the now characteristic transfusion of money.

Driven to complacency by the complex bureaucratic maze, the citizen long felt that the system was designed to discourage his involvement, and most often he was right.

But with the vote response in California, and the resulting wave of tax reform sentiment sweeping the nation, the citizen is now reassured that his voice can and will be heard if enough effort is expended.

With the dawning of the realization that elected officials were elected to represent, the onus is now placed on the politicians of the country to rise to the challenge of providing his "first interest" rather than special interest' with his best efforts.

In California, following the initial gloom-and-doom projections, officials have concluded that they can live with Proposition 13, and many have become supporters of change necessitated by that proposal.

So while it is apparent that neither supporters, or opponents of Proposition 13, accurately projected the results of that amendment passage, it is obvious that reasonable men can learn to live with almost any situation just so long as their vision remains unclouded.

It is for that reason that we at Associated Newspapers have some difficulty accepting the current wailing from the public sector in Michigan.

It is true that the situation in Michigan is much different than that in California, but the forthcoming scramble by special interest, to scuttle Michigan tax reform, represents a clear case of self interest versus public interest.

In the past any such confrontation would have been heavily weighed in favor of the special interest, but today, following Proposition 13, we are in a new game with new rules.

While the rules as yet, have not significantly changed the existing bias in favor of special interest, the addition of the disgruntled taxpayer to the formula, should certainly gain the attention of those elected to represent.

It is interesting to note that although more than 75 percent of the Michigan citizens interviewed favored some form of tax reform, only 50 percent of their elected representatives even grudgingly accept that necessity.

And that's too bad. It's too bad that our Michigan lawmakers will most probably choose the easy course and oppose reasonable taxation for reasonable services. Because to do otherwise would require additional work and thought. But tax reform has come to Michigan, and it is here to stay.

Reasonable men will be elected to see reasonable taxation become Michigan public policy. Others will not.

Editor's note:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone elses' plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

Product liability : Who really pays bill?

Editor's Note:

This week's 'From your Lawmaker' column was submitted by State Representative Dan Angel.

Rep. Angel resigned from the State House of Representatives on March 2, 1978, but had co-sponsored with Rep. Gingrass, a bill we feel is significant.

The legislation introduced into the House in 1977 was an attempt to untangle the Product Liability law of the state of Michigan. The heavily amended HB5689 was approved by the house in 1978 and has been sent on to the Senate for consideration.

We feel that the comments made by former Rep. Angel are worthy of repeating for the benefit of our readers.

By DAN ANGEL
State Representative, 49th District

In August of this year one of my favorite cartoon characters, Snoopy, was pictured by Charles Schulz in his Peanuts column playing tennis.

In picture one Snoopy was shown with a brand new tennis racket. In picture two he had committed a double fault and was obviously angry. In the next series of pictures he smashed the racket to the court, banged it on the net pole, kicked it and stomped on it. Finally, in great anguish, he tore out the strings of the racket by smashing it over the tennis net pole.

In the final frame of the cartoon he is seen addressing a letter: "Gentlemen, under separate cover I am returning a defective tennis racket."

Although humorous, I am convinced that this Snoopy cartoon does show a great deal of understanding of the product liability problem that has arisen both nationally and in the State of Michigan.

In January of 1977, a U.S. INTERAGENCY TASK FORCE conducted a study on the impact of product liability claims on the economy. Some of the findings of that report provide cause for alarm:

—Between 1965 and 1973 the average loss per claim rose 686 percent. Average jury awards went from $11,600 to nearly $80,000. That comparison, incidentally, is a jump of some 700 percent and should be viewed against a 60 percent general price index increase over the same period!

—The August 1, 1977, issue of Iron Age states very flatly that the problem has become so large that "The sum total of dollars spent in product liability is now 6 percent of our Gross National Product."

The kicker is, that the real crunch of the product liability front has taken place in the last year or two and is only partially covered by the interagency task force study!

In my opinion, the "court law" which has been established to handle product liability is no more than a lottery, in which some few individuals win exorbitant sums which the rest of us have to pick up in an increased price tag.

Product liability is the nation's latest and perhaps largest insurance problem. It is a gross understatement to say that it is a topic that has received far too little attention.

We must restore some sanity to present day activities in this area.

In July of 1977, I introduced legislation which provided a strong eleven point attack on Michigan's product liability problem. The bill was referred to the Economic Development Committee and was the subject of eight public hearings throughout Michigan during July and August of 1977. Hearings in Grand Rapids, Flint, Kalamazoo, Albion, Detroit, Mt. Pleasant, Alpena and Iron Mountain drew more than seven hundred individuals and elicited testimony from two hundred and thirty.

What, specifically, did the hearings turn up regarding the extent or nature of the problem in Michigan?

First a few specific examples. In Kalamazoo, Stryker Corporation paid only .09 percent of sales for product liability insurance in 1973. The figure in 1977 is more than 2 percent of sales!

In Manistiquie, the Century Boat Company paid $16,000 for such insurance in 1971. In 1977 the cost is more than $500,000!

In Sandusky, the Jensen Bridge and Supply Company has suffered a 963 percent increase in the cost of product liability insurance since the fall of 1976. Going from $1500 to $16,000.

This 963 percent insurance increase has come about even though no liability claim has ever been filed against Jensen Bridge!

In Jackson, Hayes-Albion Corporation has had its insurance rates increased by 400 percent from 1976 to 1977 and they expect their 1978 premiums to be 600 percent higher than 1976!

At our Mt. Pleasant hearing the Dana Corporation testified that their 1975 cost of $213,000 for basic coverage had increased in 1977 to more than 2.1 million dollars!

The Welding Gas and Equipment Company of Detroit has had no claims regarding product liability in its thirty-six year history, yet the insurance costs have increased from $10,000 in 1975 to $25,000 in 1977.

In Dowagiac the Judd Lumber Company now pays product liability insurance equivalent of 2 percent of its gross sales.

And finally, Clark Equipment Company, which operates nine facilities in Michigan employing more than 6,000 people, reports that product liability costs will amount to approximately 3 percent of the Industrial Truck Division Domestic Sales in 1977!

More than one hundred of these "Horror Stories" were presented to the full Economic Development Committee at the hearings. And, as major sponsor of this legislation, I have received many, many more in written form at my office in the Capitol. But perhaps the true gravity of the situation can be seen more easily by citing some of the polls that have taken place in Michigan this year.

The Michigan Manufacturers Association conducted a poll of its membership during the spring of 1977 and had approximately a 50 percent return.

That survey indicated that 35 percent of those responding had already experienced a problem with product liability. Questionnaire results also noted that 30 percent of those reporting had experienced insurance increases of more than 30 percent in the past two years; 21 percent had had costs double during the same time period; 21 percent had had costs triple since 1975; 7 percent had seen costs quadruple over that two year period and 21 percent said that their insurance rates had gone up more than five times what the charges were in 1975!

More than one-fifth of the respondents indicated that because of the high cost of insurance or because of the inability to find anyone to write it they were simply "going bare."

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce conducted a similar study with very similar results.

The Michigan Grain and Agricultural Dealers who represent nearly 300 grain, bean and farm supply businesses in our state, report that 16 percent of their membership has no insurance.

Finally, Iron Age conducted a national survey of 5,000 metal work related businesses. They found that the average increase between 1975 and 1977 for product liability insurance was 657 percent!

These surveys provide current and specific Michigan information which, alongside the cases provided in the eight public hearings, clearly demonstrated that Michigan does have a severe product liability problem!

The problem in Michigan—as it is in many other states in the United States—is one of cost and availability.

In Michigan we have seen huge increases in product liability insurance costs, large deductibles, and a growing inability to obtain insurance at all. The problem involves far more ASSOCIATED BELIEVES that one of the cornerstones of a democracy is unrestricted communications.

Our society and way of life cannot survive without the involvement of every citizen, in meaningful, productive communications with those we have selected as our leaders.

In the attempt of furthering the goal of better communication, Associated has extended invitations to the elected leaders of the communities we serve, to provide the citizens of their respective areas, with weekly messages concerning programs or projects which they feel are important to the community.

Associated invites your response to any of your leaders' comments or programs.

Working together we can build a better community. Ed.

than the manufacturer. Indeed, it is a growing concern for the supplier, distributor, designer, assembler, wholesaler, independent testing laboratories, installer, bailor, lessor, builder, or any other person who might in anyway be connected with a particular product.

The problem is more severe for smaller firms. But for many businesses in Michigan, their very survival is at stake.

In Centerline, Michigan the employees at the Superior Welding and Press Repair Company sent a letter earlier this year to Governor Milliken requesting action in solving the product liability problem. That company had a profit of 1.5 percent in 1976 but their product liability costs were more than 2.5 percent of gross sales!

At our Grand Rapids hearing, one gentleman said that he had invented a device which should help curb the 10,000 or so crib deaths we have nationally each year.

The device would work by being strapped around the baby's abdomen and sounding an alarm when breathing ceased.

We don't really know what causes these deaths, but prevailing theory is that the brain has not developed enough to tell the body to breathe. If we could save even one baby's life by this device, it would be well worth the price. But the sad commentary is that product liability insurance is not even available at any price to put this product on the market.

In my opinion this situation is a tragedy and we should not allow it to continue!

I certainly do not want it to appear that I am opposed to an injured party receiving just compensation for an injury which has been caused by a product. As a matter of fact, let me go further, I would oppose any legislation which did infringe upon a consumer's right to be reimbursed when direct cause and effect has been established.

One of the most confusing occurrences at the eight public hearings was the continual pointing of the finger at someone else as the root cause of the product liability problem.

Trial attorneys blamed insurance companies, insurance companies blamed massive defense costs and increased filings, and other groups blamed someone else.

It does appear that we will need far more specific information from insurance companies before this issue can be laid to rest.

Historically, insurance for product liability has been written in three forms: monoline, composite and package.

The monoline can provide direct loss ratio statistics because it covers product liability only.

Composite insurance usually covers total liability and package may include several lines of insurance covering product liability with it.

Certainly these companies should be allowed time to cull out relevant information to provide a firm basis for their cost increases. The fact that they have sophisticated computers should make this information available in the very near future. Specifically, I would hope that the insurance industry could provide Michigan data sometime during the fall session of the Michigan Legislature.

Where will the legislature go from here?

I am convinced that something must be done to restore balance in the legal system and the courtroom rulings that have substituted for sound statutes in this whole area.

I am totally unhappy with this lawsuit syndrome which enriches a few and hurts the consumer, our economic growth, and our employment picture.

This issue is too important to be viewed as merely a technical argument between lawyers. We must put a stop to this "sporting system of justice" where the party with the best attorney wins!

Three states have already taken action during 1977: Utah, Colorado and Oregon. More than thirty states are presently considering some type of legislation in this area.

Thornton Wilder once said that "Every good thing stands on the razor's edge and must be fought for."

Clearly, the product liability problem amounts to more than "Just Peanuts."

Romulus pleasant town

To the Editor,

A recent editorial on the city of Romulus struck a harmonious chord with me.

I too, think Romulus is a "pleasant town" with advantages not found in many cities. The happenings which made the big city papers cast an unpleasant shadow on our town.

It is finally being forgotten and peace and prosperity reign.

Hurray for Romulus!

Athletic club thanks Romulus

To the Editor:

On August 5th., the Romulus Athletic Club held, what we hope to be, our first annual street dance. Goddard Road, between Shook and Sterling Street, was blocked off and we had Herb Blohm and his Quarter Notes playing different kinds of music.

We had expected around 100 people. Much to our amazement, upwards of 500 came. earned money for our programs (we made a profit of $300.00 not $3000.00 as reported in the Roman two weeks ago) through the sale of hot dogs, chips, soft drinks, etc.

In 1968, the Romulus Athletic Club was formed to oversee youth athletics in our community. Since that time, they have maintained the Little League Program for over 14,000 of our young people.

On behalf of the R.A.C. I would like to express my appreciation to everyone that attended our square dance, and especially the citizens and business people that made a special effort to make sure it was a success;

Mayor Bill Oakley and the City of Romulus, The Romulus Chamber of Commerce, Wayne County Sheriff Dept., Romulus United Methodist Church, Romulus Progressive Club, Romulus Senior Citizens, Bill Simonds-Bill-Mar Super Market, Chet Asbury- Greenbrier Market, Lou Blitz- Romulus Auto Supply, Junior Block-Block Implement, John Brimble-Captain Nemo's Submarines, Bill Crova-Crova Truck and Van Sales, Gary Grace-Daly's Restaurant, Wayne Griffen-Luxury Auto Sales, Leo Kalota-Manufacturers Bank, Cass Kasperek-Metro Radiator, Tony Kopas-Romulus Hardware, Dave Rakotz-Dave's Barber Shop, Paul St. Amour-NewBoston, and Ken Wise-Family Pharmacy.

Our home football games will be at the Romulus Senior High field on September 10th and 24th, October 22nd and 29th.

If you have one of these Sunday afternoons free, we would be happy to have you join us.

Once again, thank you for your continued support for Youth Athletics in Romulus.

Student wants Semta

To the Editor:

I am a sophomore at Aquinas High in Southgate. I live in Romulus along with alot of other Aquinas students who have to find their own ride to school. I think Semta should provide the Aquinas students with a bus.

You already have 2 buses to Aquinas but they pick up in Lincoln Park only.

If they have two buses I don't see why you can't please spare one more for us.

Court challenges legality of Westland's recall election

A special election in Westland on Sept. 16 will give voters a chance to decide if four councilmen should be ousted from office.

Robert Wagner, Gail McKnight, Richard Stempien and Nancy Neal face the recall election, although they are still challenging its legitimacy in court.

The four councilmen took Wayne County Clerk James Killeen to Circuit Court Aug. 15 in hopes of getting the election cancelled. They claimed that he allowed recall workers too much time to gather signatures. In Westland, the magic number was 4,771 signatures that had to be collected against each councilman.

The four councilmen, represented by well-known elections attorney Timothy Downs, lost their bid in Circuit Court. Judge James Montante ruled Aug. 15 that the county was correct in the procedure it followed.

That decision is being appealed to the Court of Appeals.

The issue revolves around interpretation of the state recall law, which does impose certain time limits for collection of signatures.

The four councilmen claim that the recall workers were given an extra 15 days to collect signatures while their first batch of names were being certified by the county clerk. The law requires that no signature on any petition be more than 90 days old when turned into the clerk, but then gives the clerk 15 days to certify the signatures. The county clerk then, according to law, notifies the recall leaders how many signatures they are short and gives them 10 days to file more.

In effect, that gave the recall workers in Westland 115 days, not 90 days, to collect names. Without the "extra" days, they would not have had enough signatures.

This apparently is the first time that such a question has come up in Wayne County since the law was revised in 1976, so there is no precedent-setting case law to refer to as a guideline.

The four councilmen even got an attorney general's opinion from Frank Kelley agreeing with their insistence on the "90-day freshness" of signatures, but the Wayne County judge chose to interpret the law differently.

Downs is seeking an immediate hearing before the Court of Appeals, in light of the fast-approaching election date.

The recall effort began back in February, just 45 days after Nancy Neal and Richard Stempien had assumed office for the first time, and Robert Wagner was beginning a new term.

It began as a rebellion of a vocal group of senior citizens who were irate about the four councilmen's vote to oust the director of the department on aging. From there, citizens of all ages who had one political ax or another to grind with the four councilmen jumped on the band wagon. However, it has been a core of about a dozen devotees, plus a troop of about 50 walkers, who have collected signatures and kept the drive moving.

The Bible has the answer

(The following column has been submitted by The Rev. Ronald Elie, pastor of the Zion Missionary Church of Belleville. Residents with questions can contact Pastor Elie at the church, 89 Edgemont, Belleville, or by calling 697-5961.)

Dear Pastor Elie,
I'm dating a Christian girl. We are serious about each other. I'm finding that there can be real problems with parking with my date. What attitude should I have about parking?

Parking Problem
Romulus

Dear Parking Problem,
The Bible gives the answer. We can get some very good advice from Proverbs concerning your needed direction. "In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he will direct thy path's." Prov. 3:6. If you and your date can "acknowledge" God's presence while you're in a parked car, then your car will be no more of a problem than a Church pew. Have you ever started with prayer with your date at the beginning of your parking session? If you have not then consider what Proverbs goes on to say:

"Enter not into the path of the wicked... Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it (Proverbs 4:14-15).
Wisely did Jesus teach us to pray, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

Your Pastor

The art of Dentistry —Part IV

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

We talked last week about malocclusion, and today in this next-to-last column on dentistry, we plan to do a little more on malocclusion and corrective orthodontia.

According to Dr. Eichler, malocclusion is the most complex problem today in dentistry. It is an incidious enemy. "There is rarely any pain associated with malocclusion, and the major symptoms, aside from the obvious cosmetic difficulties, do not surface until there has been a serious breakdown in the periodontal structure, including bone, to the point where repair becomes difficult and almost impossible."

There is, however, a positive aspect to this problem.

Since malocclusion can be, and should be, corrected before any periodontal breakdown occurs, the first priority of the dentist is childhood orthodontia and interceptive orthodontics.

He explained interceptive orthodontics. "At one time, as most of us clearly remember, people didn't go to an orthodontist until they had all of their permanent teeth.

"We know now, that such delay is not appropriate. Contemporary dental therapeutics allow the dentist the opportunity to actually guide the eruption pattern with the use of minor appliances, changing the form of baby teeth, or judicious extraction of certain baby teeth.

"While the application of interceptive orthodontics may not eliminate completely the future need for the braces, it will surely cut down the time, money, and dental labor in future attempts to align the teeth properly."

Once it has been determined by a professional that the teeth must be moved to a more advantageous position, the braces will be applied.

Braces are in actuality resilient wires shaped to a perfect arch form which will rotate and otherwise move the teeth to fit in a perfect occlusion.

Dr. Eichler said that "moving teeth via braces in a backwards direction, will, as a rule, involve moving the eye teeth which are very strong.

The spring between the eye teeth and the other teeth is, as it were, a David and Goliath tug of war. Hence, we have to use another device known as a headgear to provide sufficient external force to move the teeth backward.

"The brackets or bands which we see around the teeth are merely used to secure the resilient wires to the teeth. As an analogy, the bands serve as a track on which the teeth can sit and move. Ultimately, the teeth will line up in a gear-like mechanism in a proper bite." There are two reasons some people should opt for orthodontic procedures: proper functioning of the teeth, and aesthetics.

"Much like an architect," said Dr. Eichler, "The orthodontist will usually consider function as the principal reason for treatment. Happily as function is corrected, generally there is a concomitant improvement in aesthetics or the cosmetic appearance of the patient.

He said that it's been his experience after some 20 years of active practice that people who have taken the interest to have their teeth properly aligned generally are the same people who continue to take care of their teeth for the rest of their life.

These patients "seem to be people who are 'good students', who listen to what they are being told about health care in general and the importance of healthy teeth in the over-all maintenance of a healthy body.

"And, it's the preservation of those healthy teeth that is the justification of the dentist's art."

Reflections

Fly with me!

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

My kid, the graduate came running into the kitchen the other day and grabbing a couple of cookies he shoved them into his mouth and whooped, "I've found the graduation present I want you to get me."

"That's good," I answered, whisking off my apron and brushing the cookie crumbs from his chin.

"It's an airplane!" And he grabbed another cookie and crunched it up for George (our dog) who was panting at his feet.

"Come on, Mom," he grabbed me by my arm and pulled me towards the door. "Come on and let me show you this neat little plane."

The neat little plane had a price tag with astronomical figures written across it and I pointed that fact out to him, but he just shook the hair out of his eyes and told me we could put it on the time payment plan.

I stared at him...doubt crossing my mind as to just how much he had learned in getting the college diploma last week.

"Here, I'll take you for a ride," he said pulling me over to the little shack tucked away in the corner of the airfield.

That is when I balked. In no way was this kid going to take me for a ride even though in one hand he was holding his pilot's license and in the other his diploma. In his head he was carrying the idea that I could put an airplane on the installment plan.

"I'm not getting into that thing," I told him.

"Look mom, I could be the greatest aerobatic pilot in the country," he beamed. "All I need is this neat little old plane and your belief in me. The only way you can believe in me is to go flying with me."

"I can't believe in you if I'm dead," His eyes popped out.

"What do you mean 'if you're dead'?" How can you die if I have my pilot's license?"

"Does it have an assurance written on it that you won't crash me into the ground?" "Sure it has. Here look at it."

"I can't read any assurance like that," I told him while staring at his license.

"That's because you don't understand the language," he said patiently. "It takes an educated person to know that I'm not going to crash you into the ground since you're the only one who can sign that installment plan contract...."

And he gently nudged me towards the plane. That's when I grabbed his diploma and ran. It doesn't pay to educate your kids too much.

Chamber Chatter

Congress and taxes

President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

We live in interesting times. For years, economic conservatives have opposed tax cuts, saying cuts are not appropriate when the federal budget is billions of dollars in the red.

First, I want to congratulate the liberals for noticing that the size of the federal deficit is a problem.

And second, I would like to propose an obvious compromise: Let's do both. Let's cut taxes and trim federal spending.

Without substantial cuts, both taxes and government spending can be expected to increase by 10 percent to 12 percent in fiscal years 1979 and 1980. For the average family, that means a federal tax increase of $700 in 1979, even if the President Carter's modest "tax relief" proposal passes, and a $950 increase if it does not. For 1980 the increase would be $1,100.

In January of this year, the President proposed a $38 billion spending increase and $25 billion in tax relief for fiscal year 1979 (which begins Oct. 1, 1978).

In March, the President upped his estimated increase in spending to $46 billion.

By June, both the President and the Congress accepted a still-higher $47 billion increase in spending. To limit the unwise growth of the deficit, the proposed $25 billion in tax relief was trimmed back to $15 billion. Thus, once again, the spenders emerge victorious and the taxpayers get the bill. Obviously, the news of the taxpayers revolt has not penetrated very far into the inner councils of Washington.

That deafness in Washington is especially unfortunate, because the federal government is steadily becoming a bigger part of the problem. For example, in both 1978 and 1979, the feds will account for nearly two-thirds of the total annual tax increase, with states and localities sharing about one-third of the total annual tax increase, with states and localities sharing about one-third. And by 1980, the federal share of the increase will have grown even larger.

To be specific: If federal spending increases are limited to the rate of inflation for the next three years (7 percent a year), then the economy would profit from tax relief on the order of $25 to $30 billion each year.

Indeed, if one-third of the tax cut is targeted to stimulate job-creating and capacity-expanding investment, then the following benefits can be expected by 1981: Nearly one million new jobs, an increase in after-tax family income of $1,055, per-family tax relief of $892, and new investment of $13.5 million.

In summary, there is room for debate over whether tax cuts will stimulate the economy enough to replace lost revenue. But the real issue goes much deeper than economics:

—It is a fact that taxes are higher now than they have ever been, and getting worse.

—It is a fact that the American people demand lower taxes.

We live in a democracy. Let the burden of proof be on those who would deny to the citizens of this country what they clearly want.

School districts collect final state aid payments

The final installment of state school aid for the 1977-78 fiscal has been paid to school districts within the 13th Senatorial District, the Western Wayne County area represented by State Sen. William Faust. In announcing the final payments, optimistically noted that funding for schools next year will be better than ever, thanks to "tremendous increase in funds for declining enrollment". The schools in Western Wayne County and their funding are: —Romulus Community Schools, $342,180 in state aid, $66,468 in Title I funding and $11,972 in vocational education money.

—Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $2,871,052 in state aid. —Huron School District, $471,122 in state aid. —Van Buren Public Schools, $564,722 in state aid and $4,179 in Title I funding. In addition to state aid, funds are provided to schools in three other areas. The payments include regular state aid, Titles I and III payments under the Elementary Education Act of 1965 and the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

W-W may trim tax bills by 3.5 mills

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne-Westland Board of Education expects to cut taxes by 3.5 mills when the budget is adopted in late October, the result of a property tax rollback included in the State Aid Act.

Superintendent Timothy J. Dyer and the district have been fighting for such relief for years, seeking a formula to aid those districts that levy more than 30 mills (Wayne-Westland levies 37.65 mills for operation) but with low local property value. Of the 36 school districts in Wayne County, Wayne-Westland ranks 32nd in property value.

Under the new formula, the state will reimburse Wayne-Westland for the 3.5 mills not levied. So instead of getting $1.7 million from homeowners through property taxes, the money will come from the state, Dyer explained.

Of the 600 school districts in the state, Wayne-Westland will be the single largest beneficiary of this rollback, Dyer said. And it will mean that for the first time, the state's share for financing education in Wayne-Westland will be more than 50 percent. Last year, the state kicked in 43 percent, the remainder made up in local property taxes. Next year, the state's share will be 55 percent.

The district will not be getting an extra windfall of money, Dyer added. The money simply will be coming from a different source. Dyer emphasized that point at a school board meeting Monday night, giving warning of a severely tightened budget coming up. While the rollback is a relief to tax paying homeowners, it does not represent any new money to the district.

In fact, the State Aid Act does not increase at all over last year the amount of money guaranteed by the state for educating each child, Dyer said. And although Wayne-Westland levies more than 30 mills in taxes, the State Aid Act is again holding the line this year at 30 mills that it will match, or "equalize" in paying for education.

UNFOUNDED Fears

Some people are so afraid of finding out they have cataracts, they don't go to have their eyes checked by eye-care specialists who can help them.

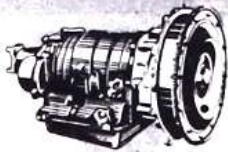

This can lead to needless blindness. Over 6,300 persons in the United States lose their sight to cataracts every year, yet this condition is curable in most cases. Cataract extraction is one of the most successful operations performed today.

Throughout its 70-year history, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has worked toward eliminating needless loss of sight.

For a free booklet about cataracts or other eye problems, write to your state Prevention of Blindness Society, or to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 79 Madison Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10016.

The Michigan Humane Society will be hosting the movie premiere of David Susskind's film of the best seller, "All Things Bright and Beautiful" at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Prudential Towne Center Theatre in Southfield.

Proceeds from the benefit premiere will benefit homeless animals.

The story captures all the warmth and humor depicted in Dr. James Herriot's best selling novel of the same name. It colorfully portrays the life of an English veterinarian, and is a return to the kind of film all members of the family can enjoy together.

Tickets to the movie premiere are $5 single, $7.50 per couple, $1 each for children under 12.

Keith completes Chaparral course

Pvt. Donald B. Keith, the son of Donald L. Keith of Ecorse Road, Belleville, recently completed a Chaparral crewman course at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

During the training, he learned all phases of the firing and tracking systems of that air defense weapon

A former student at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, Keith entered the Army last March.

Also in the armed forces: Navy Electronics Tech. 2.c. Richard A. Browning, the son of Wilburn and Patricia Browning of Van Born Road, Romulus, recently departed for an extended deployment in Mediterranean Sea.

He is assigned to the frigate USS Patterson, homeported in Mayport, Fla., and operating as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

During the cruise Patterson is scheduled to participate in training exercises with other Sixth Fleet units and those of allied nations. Port visits in several Mediterranean coastal cities also are scheduled.

Browning joined the Navy in June 1975.

4-H sponsors paradise

The Wayne County 4-H Youth Program is sponsoring "The Bubble Top Paradise" on Aug. 26, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Admission to this family fun event is free.

Youngsters, as well as young adults, may participate in a bike rodeo, relay races or the afternoon disco dances. Residents of surrounding communities are encouraged to participate.

The Bubble Top Paradise will feature additional activities that all age groups will enjoy. These activities include a fashion show, games, rummage sale, booths and a raffle.

If you are interested in an application for booth space or in contributing articles for the rummage sale, please contact Diane Courtney, 4-H Program assistant, at 721-6577 or 941-9170 before Aug. 22.

Red Cross launches blood pressure detection project

There are more than 130 volunteer positions open in the Western Wayne County area, according to the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross.

And the organization is gearing up to fill those vacancies during the 1978 Volunteer Recruitment Week, Sept. 18-24.

This year's theme is "Serve. Grow. Make a Difference."

Volunteers are needed to work on mobile blood collections units where they assist Red Cross nurses with non-medical duties, such as registering blood donors, labeling and numbering blood containers, escorting donors to the canteen area and serving refreshments.

Individuals also are needed to serve in the same capacity at the Red Cross Donor Center in Dearborn, and there are a variety of administrative volunteer positions open there in all services.

There are volunteer opportunities through Red Cross at the Veterans Administration, Outer Drive, Henry Ford and Heritage hospitals, as well as in transportation and office work at the Red Cross Dearborn location.

Persons interested in growing through service to the community should contact Red Cross at 274-5450.

HAROLD REDISKE JR.

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY..."

Does the question of knowing the "proper" thing to say at the visitation keep you from going to a wake or funeral? It shouldn't!

Your appearance at a wake or funeral is always a support and expression of love to the bereaved. The words you express as you embrace or extend the clasp-of-hand can add a sincere feeling of warmth and concern — but the words aren't nearly as important as your "just being there."

Here are some expressions you might consider:

"John was such a fine person. I will miss him."
"My warmest sympathy to you and the family."
"Mary was such a dear friend."
"Mary enjoyed life and shared her joys so often with others."

You may find it easier to say these words of comfort if you practice them beforehand when you are alone. Sometimes just hearing yourself say the words out loud makes them easier to express to others.

Open house is set

An open house, sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-Day Saints Dearborn Ward, will be held from 5 to 10 p.m. Saturday at 20201 Rotunda Drive, at the corner of Pelham Road, in Dearborn.

Western Wayne County residents are invited to come and "Meet the Mormons" and hear the message they bring to individuals and families, concerning family unity and love in the home, a spokesman said.

He added that by holding the open house it is hoped that people of the community might get better acquainted with the Mormons and their faith.

For further information on the open house contact Larry Cervantes at 562-0679 or 554-9021.

Tax cut. . .

Dyer said that expenses in the district will rise this year in cost areas such as utilities, salary and fringe benefits for staff. The district is beginning the third year of the teacher's contract, the most expensive year of the three-year pact.

So even with the $1 million Dyer said was saved in closing schools, he's predicting a tight economic year. He said he won't know the bottom line until early October, at least until the fourth Friday count of pupils comes in. That count is a big factor in determining state aid, and right now the district is scrambling to increase that count by finding ways to increase enrollment in its continuing education program.

Although the possibility of an increased millage request this year was not even breathed into the conservation, the implication of such a possibility seemed underlying, particularly since a mill or two increase would still mean an overall tax reduction because of the rollback.

Dyer went so far as to say "I would not recommend severe (program) cuts until the people would have a chance to speak."

Such speculation notwithstanding, the tax rollback is fact, at least for this year, since the state aid act can change from year to year.

Patti Perry is August bride of Christopher C. Godwin

The First Unitarian Church of Ann Arbor was reserved Aug. 12 for the afternoon wedding of Patti Jane Perry of Saline and Christopher Colin Godwin of Ann Arbor. The young couple repeated their nuptial vows before Dr. Erwin A. Gaede at six thirty in the evening. For the occasion the church was appointed with two weeping fig trees which the newlyweds will keep to enjoy in coming years. Floral arrangements were done by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. D. Melton of Olton, Texas. Organ music was played by Nancy Finlayson of Ann Arbor who accompanied Dr. Quillian White Ditto of Bloomfield Hills, the wedding soloist.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Perry of 11880 Macon Rd., Saline, formerly of Harmony Lane, Belleville, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Godwin of 1205 Country Club Rd., Ann Arbor. Escorted up the aisle by her father, Patti appeared in a toe-touching cotton voile gown embellished with handmade imported lace, designed by Phyllis of Bianchi. For her headdress she wore a halo of red rose buds and baby's breath with lace and satin ribbon streamers cascading to her waistline. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of red rose buds and baby's breath with lace and satin forming trailing streamers.

In the tradition of most brides, Patti wore something old, the wedding band her father had placed on her mother's finger 33 years ago; something new, a string of natural pearls which her mother had given to her at her bridal luncheon; something borrowed, a white linen handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. A.D. Melton; and something blue, a garter given to her at one of her bridal showers. Serving as maid of honor was Joy Marshall of Ann Arbor. Others in the bridal coterie were Mrs. Robert F. Perry Jr. of Grand Blanc, the bride's sister-in-law; and Katherine Johnson and Jennifer Sedat, both of Ann Arbor.

The quintet donned white cotton voile frocks trimmed with cotton lace and each carried a single long-stemmed red rose. Robert Fairman of Ann Arbor carried out the duties of best man. Groomsmen were Robert Godwin, the bridegroom's brother; Robert Sedat and Walter Kemnitz, all of Ann Arbor.

Relatives and friends, including the bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Perry of Bradenton, Fla., gathered at the Travis Pointe Country Club for the reception which followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Turney of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil D. Godwin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Stapleton served as assistants at the dinner-dance.

The newlyweds, who are both in their senior year at the University of Michigan, will be at home at 731 Packard, Apt. 201, Ann Arbor, after Sept. 6. The new Mrs. Godwin attended Belleville area schools most of her life and graduated from Saline High School in 1975. She is studying microbiology at U-M and her bridegroom is majoring in limnology. He, too, graduated in 1975 and is an alumnus of Huron High School in Ann Arbor.

Dr. and Mrs. W.C. Godwin, the bridegroom's parents, played host at the rehearsal dinner held at Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor. The bridesmaids' luncheon was given by Mrs. Edwin D. Ditto at Dearborn Inn.

Foursome from BPW attends convention in Puerto Rico

The National Convention, of the Business and Professional Women's Federation, convened in San Juan, Puerto Rico, July 22-30. Four members of the Belleville Business and Professional Womens Club (BPW) attending the function were Irene Christie, Bonnie Pavlat, Vira Petraska and Midge Artley.

Following the 5-day convention, a post-confab tour was planned to St. Thomas of the Virgin Islands. All four Belleville members enjoyed the flight and extended tour.

Total attendance at the convention was 3,022, of which 76 members and guests were from Michigan.

The Governor of Puerto Rico, Carlos Romero Barcelo, brought greetings and a warm welcome to the delegation. He included a small amount of history concerning the Island and gave the key to the city of San Juan to the large group of women.

As working women comprise 41 percent of the employed population of this Country, BPW is continually striving to make the business world better for women. Working women contribute substantially to a sound economic structure. By giving of their time, talent and energy, they are helping to achieve the recognition and respect they deserve in the business world.

Numerous resolutions were passed in an effort for all working women to continue to help all women. Strong support is needed in Washington to retain the words, "In God We Trust", on our coins and currency and, "Under God", in the Pledge of Allegiance. There is a strong drive to delete these phrases by a similar group that banned public prayer in our Schools. All

BPW Members were urged to write their congressman immediately to support the retention.

The Belleville BPW Club meets monthly and guests are always welcome to contact a member for reservations. The club programs center on topics such as, personal health, financial planning, assertiveness Training, legislation, individual development, career planning, to name a few.

BPW continues to strive to elevate the standards, promote interests, extend opportunities and bring about a spirit of cooperation for women in business and the professions.

Quotes worth quoting...

"Young people find it nearly impossible to conceive of their parents as ever having been young. This is because they find it just as hard to conceive of themselves as ever being old."

Sydney J. Harris said it.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND PRICE

Lakeside lawn ceremony unites R. Price, L. Upton

Among the newest residents at the Village Green Apartments in Belleville are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Price who recently returned from their 2-weeks honeymoon in the New England States.

Linda Upton became Mrs. Price in a July 22 ceremony at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank Upton of 43475 Expressway, Belleville. Some 200 guests witnessed the lakeside wedding conducted by The Rev. Robert G. McCreight at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Guitar music for the occasion was played by Doris Corbett of Belleville. For the double ring ride, Linda selected a summery gown of white cotton eyelet designed with a ruffled square-cut neckline, the ruffles forming cap sleeves at the shoulder. A deep eyelet flounce added interest to the hemline of her dress which was accessorized with little white lace gloves and a small gold chain.

A fingertip veil of bridal illusion drifted from her white picture hat and she carried a colonial bouquet of mixed blooms and baby's breath tied with satin streamers.

Carousel Nursery outlines objectives

Carousel Co-operative Nursery School, Inc., is a non-profit, non-denominational organization which is licensed by Michigan Department of Social Services, meeting State regulations concerning teachers, health, and housing. It is a co-operative, which means that members are responsible for organizing and running the nursery school, as well as assisting the teacher in the classroom.

Carousel has been in operation for the past eight years in the Belleville area and is located at the United Presbyterian Church, 11900 Belleville Road.

The purpose of a parent co-operative nursery school is to provide for the growth and development of both the young child and his parents.

The organization is to enrich the emotional and social development of the 3 to 5-year-old child and to stimulate on the part of the parents, greater understanding and awareness of the child and his relationship with others his own age.

The nursery school provides a unique opportunity for both the assisting parent and preschooler to explore new situations together.

For the children, it offers a place to play and have fun under the careful direction of a trained and objective teacher. It is a place where their needs and feelings are of primary importance to the adults present. It provides play experiences regularly in an environment that is carefully geared to fit their needs, i.e., playmates of the same age and adequate and proper equipment with which to play.

It is here that children may first learn to accept adult authority other than that of their parents and to adjust to the idea of leaving their mothers, possibly for the first time.

The teacher represents an entirely new kind of adult relationship to the preschool child. She provides continuity from day to day and is the one person he can count on for comfort, encouragement and guidance. Yet, because he must learn to share her attention with so many other children, the very situation will encourage him to develop an emotional independence beyond what he has experienced before.

The teacher will help to develop this independence when he is ready, at his own rate. Because she is in a more objective position than the adults in his every day life, the teacher can be uniquely aware of each child's individual needs and respond to them. She will also help him to learn to channel his emotions and to develop the attitudes and social skills necessary to good social relations, to be considerate of others' feelings, to share desired playthings and to do one's share in picking up.

Gail Upton of Belleville was her sister's only attendant in a green and yellow floral print on a white background. She, too, held mixed flowers to match her dress and tucked a yellow daisy and baby's breath in her hair.

The son of Stanley Price of 9600 Hannan Rd., Belleville, the bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Steven Price of Willis as best man. Ushers were the young couple's brothers, Robert Upton and Ronald Price, both of Belleville.

Among those attending the lawn reception which followed were relatives from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Winnipeg and Manitoba, Canada and San Diego, Calif. Cinda Ferrier of Ann Arbor, the bride's close friend, acted as hostess.

The newlyweds, whose new address is 46171 Village Green, Belleville, both graduated from Belleville High School, he in 1972 and she a year later. In 1978 Linda earned her bachelor of science degree at Michigan State University. Her new husband holds a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University, having graduated in 1977.

The rehearsal dinner July 20 was an outdoor buffet at the home of the bride's mother.

A co-operative nursery offers the parents a unique opportunity to observe and enjoy their child in group activity on the days they serve as one of the teacher assistants. Co-op also involves the use of parents' talents and abilities in carrying out special projects and functions of the nursery, i.e., fund raising, care of facility, care of pets, preparation of supplies and generally keeping their nursery running smoothly. Teachers for the coming school year are Mrs. Kathy Fisher and Mrs. Sandy Urfer. Classes are offered Monday and Wednesday and Tuesday and Thursday a.m. 9:15 to 11:30; and 12:30 to 2:45 p.m. Tuition is $13 per month. ## Debbie Duane feted at bridal shower

Debbie Duane, who has a September altar date with Bob Tworck, was guest of honor Aug. 10 at a miscellaneous bridal shower held at the Moose Lodge of Belleville.

A yellow and white color scheme was used in the table appointments and in the umbrella table under which the honoree opened her many household gifts. She was assisted by her sister-in-law, Judy Duane, and Doreen Grishaber who will be in the wedding party and also by Lisa Sisco, her junior attendant.

A timer was set during the gift presentation and prizes went to the person whose gift was being opened when the bell sounded. Door awards went to Helen Stabnau, Yvonne Koster, Karen Guenther, Rhonda Good, Lee Smith and Pat Guenther. Some 35 guests from Taylor, Flat Rock, Garden City, Southgate, Trenton, Wyandotte, Lincoln Park, Livonia and Belleville later were served a luncheon of Maurice salad, homemade rolls, relishes and assorted desserts.

Co-hostesses were the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Turtle of Lincoln Park; Mrs. Wes Owen, Mrs. Betty Tworck and Mrs. George Heifner.

Debbie and Bob will be married Sept. 22 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD C. PALNAU

Bride of Leonard Palnau

Debra Oliver chooses garden as background for wedding

A garden wedding at the home of the bridegroom's parents united Debra Ann Oliver of Ann Arbor and Leonard C. Palnau of Belleville in holy matrimony on July 29.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Oliver of 4191 Woodland Dr., Ann Arbor, Debra was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. James E. Tuttle presided at the double ring ceremony beneath a trellis bearing the young couple's initials.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy G. Palnau of 17160 Renton Rd., Belleville, parents of the bridegroom, welcomed some 103 guests to their home for the happy occasion.

For the two o'clock nuptials, the bride selected a full length gown of polyester blend styled with a deep square neckline, full white lace sleeves and a softly gathered skirt falling from a natural waistline.

She wore a wide-brimmed picture hat and carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Debra Hubbell of Ypsilanti, the bride's best friend, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Palnau of Ypsilanti, the bridegroom's sister; Lori Oliver of Ann Arbor and Kris Oliver of Ypsilanti, sister and sister-in-law, respectively of the bride; and Keena Kramer of Jackson.

The quartet appeared in soft pastel shades with the honor attendant dressed in an ivory polyester floral print and the others in tones of peach, blue, green and yellow. All the gowns were made with squared necklines and toe-touching skirts and were accessorized with matching hats and bouquets of multi-colored daisies.

Attendants on the esquire side were Randy Champagne of Ypsilanti, the best man; and the corps of ushers: Chris Palnau of Garden City; Rick Oliver of Ypsilanti and Carl Palnau of Belleville, all brothers of the bridal pair; and Kenny Kottke of Ypsilanti.

A tent set up in the Palnau's garden was used for the reception which followed. Mrs. Oliver greeted relatives and friends in a long gown of medium green polyester accented with a flowered lace cape while the bridegroom's mother donned a formal peach polyester gown with a floral overlay. Both were presented with corsages of white carnations and roses.

Since returning from a week-long honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains of West Virginia the newlyweds have taken up residence at 51000 Mott Rd., Canton.

The new Mrs. Palnau is a 1972 graduate of Dexter High School. Her husband graduated from Belleville High School and Henry Ford Community College and is now with the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at the rehearsal dinner at their home on Renton Road.

A 'first' for mayor

Romulus Mayor William Oakley was the surprised recipient of a "wedding present" from Daniel and Susan Ptasinski Zawacki following their July 24 marriage in the council chambers of Romulus City Hall. The Mayor had presided at the young couple's afternoon ceremony at which they exchanged double ring vows. Mayor Oakley, in thanking the newlyweds, said that "This was a historic event, the first wedding gift I have received since I took office."

Newlyweds reside in Belleville following Florida honeymoon

A two week wedding trip to Florida followed the July 22 marriage of Sharon Summers and Wayne Osborne, both of Romulus. The newlyweds are now making their home at the Lemontree Apartments in Belleville.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Summers of 15594 Colbert, Romulus, Sharon was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she chose a traditional white gown of sate peau styled with a sweetheart neckline and full sheer sleeves frosted with lace appliques. Her softly-gathered skirt fell from a natural waistline into a brief chapel train.

A beaded headpiece secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion which was banded with lace to match that on the bridal gown. Her bouquet was fashioned in colonial style of yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath.

The four o'clock nuptial rite was held at Gilead Baptist Church in Taylor with some 100 guests in attendance.

Maid of honor was Judy Osborne of Romulus, the bride's best friend, who donned a yellow ensemble and wore a rose and baby's breath in her hair. The only bridesmaid in a similar outfit with a flower-trimmed cape, was Pat Darnell of Romulus.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Osborne of 15626 Springhill, Romulus, asked Ray Blackburn of Romulus to serve as best man. Ron Wilbanks of Romulus was groomsmen and ushers were Richie Summers and Charles Osborne, brother of the bride and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, respectively.

At the reception which followed in the American Legion Hall in Trenton, friends and relatives were greeted by the bride's mother in an off-white dress to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations. Yellow carnations were presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a green suit for the occasion.

Sharon and Wayne are both Romulus High School graduates, she earning her diploma in 1976 and he in 1977. She is employed at Airlines Parking in Romulus and he with the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn.

Zawacki-Ptasinski marry; make new home in Addison

Double ring vows were exchanged July 24 between Susan Marie Ptasinski of Romulus and Daniel L. Zawacki of Troy. The ceremony, held at the Romulus City Hall, was conducted by Mayor William Oakley before the couple's immediate families.

The four-thirty rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ptasinski of 13570 Inkster Rd., Romulus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zawacki of 11400 Sherman, Warren.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, asked Mrs. Georgina Dillon of Sterling Heights to be her honor attendant.

Cherie Ann Ptasinski, the 4½-year-old daughter of the Charles Ptasinskis of Southgate, served as her aunt's flowergirl.

The bridegroom, who made his home at 103 Kenyon, Troy, chose his brother, Charles Zawacki of Troy, to be best man.

Following the double ring nuptials the group traveled to The Shores in St. Clair Shores for the wedding reception which was attended by some 50 friends and relatives.

The new Mrs. Zawacki graduated from Romulus High School in 1969 and Northern Michigan University in 1973 where she earned a bachelor of science degree in mental retardation and psychology. She later received a master's degree in learning disabilities in 1976 and is now employed by the Hillsdale County Intermediate School District as a learning disabilities consultant.

Her bridegroom, a 1968 alumnus of Lincoln High School in Warren, holds a bachelor of science degree in math and chemistry from Eastern Michigan University and a master's degree in educational leadership which he earned in 1976. At the present time he is on the staff at East Jackson High School where he teaches mathematics and coaches football.

The newlyweds are making their home at 211 E. Main St., Addison.

Stasak, Oakley marry at Wayne Church

Las Vegas, Nev. was the honeymoon destination for the newly wed James Stasak who are now at home at the Bil-Mar Apartments at 9344 Tobine Rd., Romulus.

Sheila Oakley, the daughter of Romulus Mayor and Mrs. William Oakley of 9875 Tobine Rd., Romulus, became Mrs. Stasak in a July 14 ceremony at the First Congregational Church in Wayne.

The Rev. Earvan Andersen presided at the double ring rite before some 150 assembled guests. Organ music was played by the bride's uncle, George Sahagian of

New York, with vocal and guitar selections sung and played by friends of the young couple.

For the six o'clock rite the altar was adorned with a basket of gladiolas, fuji mums and chrysanthemums, candabras and a wedding candle.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her mother and father, Sheila appeared in a summer creation of silk organza over peau de soie. The toe-touching skirt, which drifted into a chapel train, was frosted with Venetian lace. The little fitted bodice, designed with short, notched sleeves outlined with lace, featured a high lace collar above an illusion necklin heavily embellished with lace.

Her lace-trimmed double tier veil fell from a little cap of lace appliques and her cascade bouquet was comprised of white sweetheart roses, miniature white carnations, stephanotis, baby's breath and trailing English ivy.

Lisa Oakley, the bride's only sister was chosen to be maid of honor. Lorraine Hollandsworth of Westland, the bride's college roommate, and Terri Furlong of Westland, her future sister-in-law, were bridesmaids.

They wore sprigs of baby's breath tucked in their hair and carried white wicker baskets filled with miniature white carnations, tinted spring fuji mums and baby's breath.

Identically dressed, the trio wore floor-length dresses of spring green chiffon stenciled with large white flowers. Ruffles on the necklines formed deep V's on the little fitted bodices and were repeated as flounces on the hemlines.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stasak of 406 Watts Way, Cocoa Beach, Fla., the bridegroom asked Richard Yaczik of Detroit to carry out the duties of best man. Others on the esquire side were Peter Dezendorf of Cocoa Beach, Fla. and Mel Oakley, the bride's older brother.

Ramada Inn Metro of Romulus, where the bridegroom works as executive chef, was the setting for the reception which followed. Mrs. Oakley received in a mauve gown and wore her corsage of white carnations and baby's breath on her wrist. A similar corsage accented the spring green gown which the bridegroom's mother selected for the occasion.

The new Mrs. Stasak graduated from Romulus High School and Central Michigan University and is employed by the Romulus Community Schools. She teaches second grade at Merriman Elementary School.

Her husband is an alumnus of Cocoa Beach High School and the University of Florida.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the bride's parents on Tobine Road.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES STASAK

Post office, friends unite

Bert Smith is target at 'roast'

The engagement of their daughter, Theresa Renke, and Keith J. Savage is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Renke of 11452 St. Aloysius St., Romulus. A 1975 graduate of Romulus High School, the bride-elect is currently in her senior year at Central Michigan University where she is majoring in public health and where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Savage of 39951 Goddard Rd., Romulus, is also a 1975 graduate of Romulus High School. A student at Eastern Michigan University, he is majoring in computer science while employed by his father at Savage Hitch Shop in Romulus. The young couple, who plan to be married at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus, have not as yet set a wedding date.

Employees of the Belleville Post Office said their "official" farewells to their former Superintendent of Postal Operations, Bert G. Smith, at a banquet and "roast" last Thursday night at Leright's Banquet Room in Westland. Smith left the local organization Aug. 31 when he was promoted to postmaster of Tecumseh, Mich.

Doris Brice and Blanche Chatman offered their "tributes" while Dale Phillips added his philosophical viewpoints.

Ray then turned the microphone over to Tom Hopka who, with his wife Betty, had come in from Knoxville, Tenn. to serve as co-anchor man at the party.

He bemoaned the fact that he'd known "B.G." for way too many years and knew he wasn't alone in his feelings. That proved to be true when Smith's neighbor, Maxine Heifner, explained that for 13 years she has had to put up with his Chauvinistic, keep-'em-in-their-place attitude, and now she was going to get her revenge (which she did!).

Floyd Griffith (Mr. NBD) was next on the roster with an original poem he had written concerning Smith's zucchini crop. It seems that he (Smith) is somewhat a braggart about his crops (always having vegetables before anyone else) and that he likes to rub-it-in by sending the Griffiths his very first zucchini — often gift-wrapped or be-ribboned. Griff and his wife, Sally, turned the tables by bringing an enormous zucchini fashioned like a little man dressed in overalls, work hat and shirt with a clay pipe in his teeth.

Golf was the topic chosen by Judge Jim Stone for his contribution to the tirade. Having been on the fairways with Smith "too many times" he decided that Smith, too, should be able to drive into the woods and rough like everyone else. So, along with his commentary, he presented the left-handed "roastee" with a rusty, antique set of golf clubs — right-handed ones.

Sweet revenge was the object for Bea Raymond as she handed Smith a wad of her clothing bills. She was just plain tired, she explained, of constantly being criticized for shopping. It was really none of his business, she pointed out, how much money she spent but since he stuck his nose in her shopping habits so much, HE could pay the bills.

That was pretty much the trend the "blistering" took with brother-in-law Ed Hudge revealing Smith's frugality ("tightness"); Jack Paulsen comparing his own spectacular hole-in-one with Smith's rather plain old orthodox ace; Bill Szlinis speaking on his racquetball sessions with Smith and his "outfits"; and Jan Ross (cousin by marriage) revealing a few points about her babysitting days with the Smith girls.

Manley Baldwin, who's shared many an hour pheasant hunting with the "subject", also told a few tales out of school as did fellow-golfers Kurt Atchinson, Darryl Raymond, and Dutch Atchinson and Belleville Postmaster Ray O'Neil.

Letting the group know what it's like being the daughters of a crack-of-dawn riser and a golf nut, Sue and Carol Smith took turns reading verses of an original poem which included a little ditty their dad always sings to wake them up on Sunday mornings.

Having the final word (doesn't she always, the kindly postmaster remarked) was his wife, Lee. She drew the sympathy of the crowd with the revelation that her husband was having a love affair with his rototiller and how she'd decided to "fight the situation."

Ray Van Buhler brought the proceedings to a close with a gift presentation from the postal group; a memento for his new desk in Tecumseh.

Mackinac Island honeymoon site for newlyweds

Audrey See of Romulus and Robert Kocsis of Wayne were united in marriage July 15 at the First United Methodist Church of Wayne.

For the three o'clock ceremony the bride chose a floor-length gown of polyester and lace fashioned with a sheer lace bodice and long sleeves trimmed in lace.

Her fingertip veil was accented with lace and beads and she carried a bouquet of white silk roses and baby's breath.

The Rev. Charles Jacobs of Harper Woods presided at the ceremony and Curtis Mathinson provided organ music for the occasion.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford See of Romulus, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Preceding them up the aisle were Barbara Gauthier, a college friend, who was maid of honor, and Monica Stever, niece of the bride, who was bridesmaid. Their blue polyester frocks featured empire waistlines, accents of lace and accordion pleated skirts. They carried baskets of silk and straw flowers and wore headdresses of blue and white flowers trimmed with lace.

Shannon See was flowergirl at her aunt's wedding. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis See, she donned a little white dress and white floral headpiece. She, too, held a basket filled with white silk flowers and strawflowers.

Ringbearer was Darren Tait, nephew of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tait of Lansing.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kocsis of Wayne, asked his brother, Brian Kocsis of Wayne, to be best man. James Bauer of Wayne was groomsmen and Larry See, brother of the bride;

Michael Stever, nephew of the bride; Michael Tait, cousin of the bride, and Richard Hallett served as ushers.

A floor-length gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta was worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. See, who was honored with a corsage of silk yellow roses. Mrs. Kocsis wore for her son's wedding a formal gown of pink polyester knit to which she pinned her corsage of pink silk roses.

A reception for the newlyweds and some 180 guests was held at the Oddfellow Hall on Glenwood in Wayne.

The newlyweds honeymooned on Mackinac Island and are now at home on Woodward Street in Wayne.

The bride is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and an employee of Associated Physicians where she works as a laboratory technician. Her husband is employed as a mechanic at Commercial Carrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kocsis played host at the rehearsal dinner at their home in Wayne.

Byron Patrick is his title

Byron Patrick Schroeder wants everyone to know he has a new baby sister, Laura Marie, who arrived July 31, weighed 8 lbs. - 9 ozs. and measured 22 inches.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Schroeder of Romulus and the grandchildren of Charles Hoffman of Romulus and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Schroeder of Wayne.

The proud great-grandmothers are Mrs. Ella Hoffman and Mrs. Hope Clark and prouder still is Mrs. Ethel Legget of Iowa, the great-great grandmother.

Ray Van Buhler and Scotty Grishaber, postal carrier and clerk, respectively, made the arrangements for the dinner with the former serving as emcee for the first half of the program.

The honoree's wife, Lee, decided to include a number of their friends, some 40 in all, who were more than willing to participate in "broiling" the subject.

Cocktails at 6:30 and a family-style dinner an hour later were followed by some very choice words. Retired letter carrier Bob Whalen,

Sept. 8 wedding set

Deborah Lynn Reed and Rex O. Wilkerson are engaged and making plans for a Sept. 8 wedding.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad T. Reed of 50384 Bog Rd., Belleville, who announce their daughter's betrothal and approaching wedding date. A 1974 graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Reed attended Washtenaw Community College for three and a half years and is currently employed at Xerox Microfilm.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilkerson of 800 Fox, Ypsilanti, attended Belleville High School and now works at Willow Run Airport.

Mid-August trips enjoyed

Mrs. Pat Lorbeske and her four children returned over the weekend from a delightful motor trip. They visited Great America outside of Chicago, Ill.; had a fun-filled three days in Milwaukee, Wisc. visiting relatives and also enjoyed the beauty of the Wisconsin Dells. They spent the remainder of their vacation with Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wacławski.

Mrs. Hazel DeBilzan of Liberty Street accompanied her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dale De Bilzan of Canton, to South Dakota for a 2-week visit with relatives. The trio returned home over the weekend.

Doris Smith, the daughter of Arnold Smith of Haggerty Road, returned home Aug. 12 from Regular Baptist Church Camp at Lake Ann, just west of Traverse City.

Mrs. Harold Klais of River Rouge was a houseguest Aug. 11 and 12 of Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Osborne of Savage Road and four children enjoyed a week of camping at Silver Lake near Hart. Jo Ann's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Akers of Dannville, Ind., were also there.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Robson Road entertained their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Claus of Brentwood, Tenn. for several days. The young couple returned home Aug. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McParlan of Martinsville Road and Mr. and Mrs. William Kahkonen of Riggs Road spent a weekend on the Au Sable River recently. One of the highlights was a 6-hour, 25-mile trip down the river in a canoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Schmidt just returned home from spending a week with their nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stevens of East Huron River Drive. The Schmidts call Boynton Beach, Fla. home.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Touse of Roland Street enjoyed dinner and visiting Aug. 12 at the Trenton home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Truax.

Mrs. Marge Potter of Liberty Street, son Morton, and grandchildren Lissa and Morton of Plymouth, returned from spending two weeks at their cottage on Grand Traverse Bay. Over the Aug. 4 weekend their houseguests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hillburger and children from Long Island Sound, Conn.

Mrs. Juanita Akers of Liberty Street returned home last week from an enjoyable visit with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Akers of Leesburg, Va.

David Laney of Sevierville, Tenn. is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Betty Parkinson of West Huron River Drive and his aunt, Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Scoville of Hillsdale were dinner guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Touse of Roland Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road attended Das Awkscht Fescht at the Macungie Memorial Park in Macungie, Pa., the weekend of Aug. 4.

Over 1,500 antique, classic, special interest and sportscars were registered for the 2-day car show.

Events throughout the show included live entertainment in the band shell, an arts and crafts exhibit, antique flea market, horse shows and skydivers adding thrills to "The August Festival." The Pennsylvania Dutch foods served for the occasion further highlighted the affair.

The Mericles received a first place award for their 1951 Kaiser Traveler automobile, one of the auto industry's first hatchbacks, in addition to the Longest Distance Award Trophy.

It's another boy for Malchos

Alas, the men still outnumber the women at the home of Michael Lee and Lorraine Malcho at 38236 Westvale, Romulus. Lorraine, who delivered her third son at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti on Aug. 9, is still the lone female in the family.

The newest member of the clan, Nicholas Lee, arrived at 12:16 p.m., weighed 7 lbs. - 8 ozs. and measured 20½ inches.

His two big brothers are Matthew, 4½-years-old, and Nathaniel, who's three.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Malcho and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shellenbarger, all of Hale, are the boys' grandparents.

OFFBEAT Michigan

Museum haunts portraying Michigan history can include a stagecoach inn, a 19th Century opera house, an 1892 railroad depot and stately mansions once the homes of governors. Museum buffs can experience the contrast of castle and cabin and the quaintness of one- and two-room schoolhouses. A cruise to Beaver Island in Lake Michigan takes travelers to an 1880s Mormon print shop.

A museum tour of Michigan can lead travelers to such historic haunts as an 1832 stagecoach inn in the Irish Hills, a 19th Century opera house at Coldwater, an 1892 railroad depot in Petoskey and stately mansions once the homes of governors.

A selection of 17 buildings in 14 towns offers tourists an opportunity to visit the most offbeat among hundreds of museums in the state.

1. St. James — Beaver Island Historical Museum, Mormon print shop, (616) 448-2212
2. Petoskey — Little Traverse Regional Historical Society railroad depot museum, (616) 347-2620
3. Constantine — Gov. Barry Museum, (616) 435-7316
4. Nottawa — Stone School, (616) 467-7761
5. Battle Creek — Kimball House Museum, (616) 965-2613
6. Marshall — Governor's Mansion, Capitol Hill School and Honolulu House, (616) 781-5163
7. Coldwater — Tibbits Opera House, (517) 278-6029
8. Albion — Gardner House Museum, (517) 629-5533
9. Concord — Mann House, (517) 524-8943
10. Brooklyn — Walker Tavern, (517) 467-4414
11. Ann Arbor — Kempf House, (313) 761-4510
12. Pontiac — Wisner House, Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society museum, (313) 338-6732
13. Harbor Beach — Murphy Museum, (517) 479-9434
14. Owosso — Curwood Castle and Comstock Cabin, (517) 725-7610 level features changing exhibits.

Petoskey's Victorian-style railroad depot has been restored by the Little Traverse Regional Historical Society (616-347-2620) and is operated as a museum during summer months. Featured are a porcupine quill basket collection and memorabilia of authors Ernest Hemingway and Bruce Catton.

Pine Grove, a Greek Revival mansion in Pontiac, was built in 1844 by Gov. Moses Wisner, who used it as his official residence while in office. It now is a museum operated by the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society (313-338-6732).

Oldest of the former governors' homes is the 1835 mansion of Gov. John S. Barry in Constantine (616-435-7316). Lt. Gov. James Wright Gordon built his Greek Revival mansion in Marshall in 1839 in anticipation that the city would become the state's capital.

Marshall's Honolulu House was built in 1860 by Judge Abner Pratt, who served as U.S. Consul to the Sandwich Islands. He was so charmed by the islands that he styled his home in an authentic Hawaiian motif. The home's 19th Century antiques include a folding bathtub which could double as a bed.

Another Marshall landmark is the Gothic Revival two-room Capitol Hill School, which served the city for 101 years. One room of the restored building is set up as a 19th Century schoolroom. The other is a children's museum.

The one-room Nottawa Stone School on M-86, four miles east of Centerville (616-467-7761), was built in 1870 and is used primarily during the school year as an educational experience for area schoolchildren.

The Beaver Island Historical Museum at St. James (616-448-2212) originally was a Mormon print shop, where a daily newspaper was started in December 1850—the first daily newspaper printed north of Grand Rapids. The museum collection includes many items from the period when James Strang crowned himself king of the Mormon colony.

The curious contrast of castle and log cabin is found at Owosso (517-725-7610). Outdoor writer James Oliver Curwood's studio, nicknamed Curwood's Castle because of its resemblance to a Norman fortress, is an art gallery. Owosso's oldest house, the 1836 Comstock Cabin, is a museum with furnishings appropriate to the period.

Childbirth classes set

September classes for expectant parents have been scheduled by the Wayne County Health Department.

The classes will be offered at the South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road, Taylor, beginning Sept. 12, and at the Wayne County Department of Health, located on Merriman Road north of Michigan Avenue, Westland, beginning Sept. 13.

All classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. for six consecutive weeks.

Group discussion will be used in the classes and will be under the leadership of a public health nurse. Discussion will center on the concerns about pregnancy, labor, delivery and infant care, all of common interest to the groups.

Since the size of the group will be limited, interested persons are urged to register as early as possible.

For registration or further information, contact the health department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 390, weekdays between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

4-H Youth Program to start up project in county

Did you know that there are pigeons that perform acrobatic stunts in the air, that pigeons can find their way home from as far as 500 miles away, that some pigeons make excellent food or that some pigeons are bred for beauty and color?

If you didn't, then consider this... The Wayne County 4-H Youth Program currently is in the process of implementing a 4-H Pigeon Project in Wayne County and is asking that interested adults and older teens help in developing this unique project by volunteering to be leaders.

The 4-H Office will provide interested persons with a breeding pair of pigeons of your choice, as well as wire and lumber to help construct cages. There also will be a leaders training and information session, scheduled for Aug. 25 at 7 p.m.

The session will be held at the 4-H Office on Newburgh Road in Wayne and will stress the different breeds of pigeons and the variety of ways in which they can be utilized, as well as the caring and training of the bird.

Only 10 clubs will receive funds from this special account, and young participants must have a club leader and from eight to 10 4-H members.

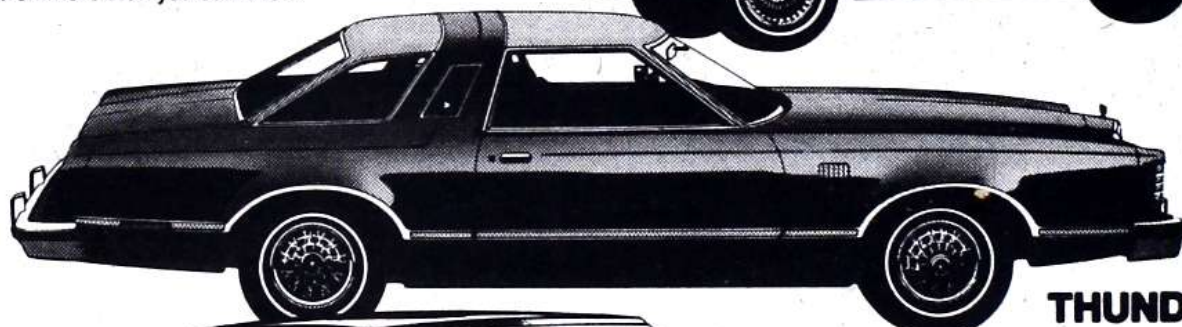

For further information contact Diane Courtney or Terry Damask as soon as possible at 721-6577.

Summer pastimes have hidden burn hazards

Lisa, 2½, ran happily across the beach to the circle of stones with sand piled inside. Then she was screaming, her hands charred from charcoal still smoldering at 800 to 900 degrees under the thin layer of sand.

That was three years ago. Today Lisa (not her real name) still returns to Children's Hospital of Michigan for reconstruction of her hands. Some fingertips have been lost.

Summer pastimes hold hidden hazards of accidental burns for many children, warns Dr. James R. Lloyd, a pediatric surgeon who is director of the Burn Center at Children's Hospital in the Detroit Medical Center, and clinical assistant professor of surgery at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

"The average age of children brought to the Burn Center is four to five years, an age when they still need close supervision," said Dr. Lloyd, who has been a member of the medical staff at Children's for 19 years. "Parents who are aware of potential burn hazards can prevent their children from suffering pain and often disfigurement."

"Parents have often told me, 'I never dreamed this could happen,' but a moment's forethought can keep a summer outing from becoming a tragedy."

A little-known danger of motorcycle riding, for instance, is tail-pipe burns, caused when a child riding behind the driver touches his legs to the hot exhaust. In addition to beach fires which are not drowned before being covered with sand, many dangers are inherent in the backyard barbecue grill. Adults who use gasoline to start a fire sometimes cause an explosion from the rapidly expanding fumes.

The same is true when burning brush piles.

Or a parent may add starter fluid to speed a slow charcoal fire; the flames can travel up the stream of fluid to the can, creating an explosion as well as fire.

Small children may stumble and fall into a hot grill placed on the ground. Young Joe suffered extensive burns when he fell onto a grill. Both arms, his back, one leg, a hand and part of his face were seared.

Young burn victims have been treated at Children's after touching dry ice packed around ice cream containers; for grasping hot camping lanterns and hurricane lamps; for getting into paint stripper used outdoors; for electric burns from lights strung at backyard parties where the loose plug was in contact with damp ground.

The list goes on...

A busy mother puts her young infant outside in the shade, forgetting that the sun will move to glare directly on the baby's tender skin. Gasoline spilled on cement while refueling a lawnmower exploded when a child dropped a metallic object into the puddle.

Mackinac Bridge walk is Sept. 4

For those of you who will be heading north this Labor Day Weekend and who have an inkling to take a stroll, the 21st annual Mackinac Bridge Walk is scheduled to begin at 7:30 a.m. Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Last year some 27,500 individuals made the trek across the bridge over the beautiful and historic Straits of Mackinac. This year, weather permitting, the number of walkers should increase "the world's greatest walking event".

An important change is that buses transporting bridge walkers to the starting point at St. Ignace, or the north side of the bridge, will be boarding in a new location. The boarding site and bus ticket sales location this year will be in an area north of the Traverse Bay Woolen Company on Huron Street in Mackinaw City. Bus tickets are 50 cents; children under 12 are free.

No dogs, except seeing eye, will be permitted to participate in the bridge walk. This rule will be strictly enforced for the convenience and safety of the vast majority of the bridge walkers.

Also, bridge walkers should bear in mind that creating a spark.

Burns from these and other causes last year brought 600 children for treatment in the Children's Hospital Emergency Room. Some 234 were serious enough to require hospitalization.

"Parents tend to underestimate the seriousness of burns to a child," said Dr. Lloyd. "A burn that covers half the head and face of a one year old affects 8.5 percent of the infant's body area, while the same burn on an adult would cover only 3.5 percent of his body. A child's head is much larger in proportion to his body than that of an adult."

Adults responsible for children should keep in mind these simple first aid measures for burns:

(1) Put out the fire and get the child horizontal so the flames don't flare up on the face and hair. Smother the flames with a blanket, tablecloth or coat; use a hose or swimming pool, if nearby. Roll the child on the ground if none of these are available.

(2) Compresses wrung out of cool water, or cool water applied directly on the burn, usually will relieve pain. Do not use ice, it can cause frostbite. Ice can be used to cool the water applied to the wound. A water temperature of 55 degrees is good.

(3) Remove the burned clothing. If some clothing is adhering to the burns, cut around the stuck portion and do not try to remove it.

(4) Wrap the child in a clean sheet, tablecloth or blanket, keep her warm and dry and get emergency care. If a doctor's office is closer than a hospital, go there first.

Skilled medical care is necessary to replace lost body fluids, reduce pain and prevent infection, even before the wound itself is attended to. At Children's Hospital 12-bed

Burn Center the highly trained burn team includes physicians, nurses, occupational and physical therapists, psychiatrists, social workers and dietitians.

Dr. Lloyd feels strongly that any child who has suffered a burn should be seen by a physician.

"A burn involving the entire arm of a child represents 10 to 15 percent of the body area. That is considered a major burn. Even small burns can be life-threatening, if they are deep," he said. "The most serious burns are those on the hands, face, feet and genital area. Hospitalization is always recommended for these burns."

Marine ROTC scholarships are available

High school juniors and seniors seeking college scholarships have an opportunity worth up to $25,000 towards tuition, academic fees and books through the 1978-79 Marine Corps Option Naval Reserve Officers Training Course (NROTC) program.

Applications now are being accepted, and this year more than 260 high school students will be selected for Marine Corps NROTC scholarships.

Men and women high school applicants will be considered on their scholastic achievements, American College Test or Scholastic Aptitude Test scores, physical condition, leadership potential and desire to serve as a Marine Corps officer. After receiving their baccalaureate degree, NROTC scholarships participants will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps.

Last year, the 376 high school grads who were offered the Marine Corps-sponsored scholarships had the choice of attending one of 56 colleges or universities in the United States. Additionally, the NROTC program provides the opportunity for college-bound students to plan their future with a guaranteed job after completion of an accredited baccalaureate degree program.

For further information contact Capt. McLaughlin or St. Sgt. Chubb at 226-7735, or stop in at the nearest Marine Corps Recruiting office for an information brochure.

Dawkins sets state record

14-year-old masters 200-freestyle in 1:49.5

GREG DAWKINS

Romulus Public Library
11121 Wayne Road
Romulus, Mich. 48178

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Remember Greg Dawkins' name - you're going to hear a lot about the 14-year-old Stevenson Junior High School swimmer. Dawkins already owns one state record for his age group and is on the verge of cracking a few more.

"He has a lot of potential," said Jim McPartlin, Wayne High head swim coach. "You're going to hear a lot about him when he swims on the high school level."

Dawkins, however, probably will attend Westland John Glenn and McPartlin's tankers will have to see the good-looking swimmer as a rival instead of a teammate.

Meanwhile, Greg made the trip to Battle Creek last weekend and competed in that city's "Summer's End Invitational," where he picked up two first places, one in a state-record time.

Dawkins covered the 200-yard freestyle in 1:48.60, placing first and eclipsing the state mark for the event set in 1976 by John Russo.

Russo's time was 1:48.86.

Dawkins touched out teammate Greg Patrell, also of the Warren, Fitzgerald Swim Club. Patrell, who had nosed out Greg in the state meet the previous weekend, was second with a 1:49.50.

Dawkins also won a gold in the 100-yard freestyle where he again nipped his swimming mate at the wire, Dawkins' winning time was 50.4, while Patrell turned in a 50.5.

In the 500-yard freestyle, Dawkins placed fourth with a respectable 4:55.5 and he was also fourth in the 1,650 yards freestyle. He was clocked in 17:16.2. His 23.9 for the 50-yard freestyle earned for him a fifth place.

Perry Mead captures Anderson Memorial

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer
Perry Mead sandblasting of Garden City did a little "softball blasting" to win the Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Invitational Softball Tournament held in Wayne. The slugging Garden City squad came out of the losers' bracket to beat runnerup Joe Thomas of Westland in the last two games, 10-9 and 12-5, to capture the trophy.

"This was the second annual tournament in Lenny's honor," said Director Larry Quartuccio, "and we invited 16 of the best first and second place teams from this area."

"We are very selective and try to keep it very competitive. I think Perry Mead is to be commended very highly for coming out of the losers' bracket to win the tournament. That is a fantastic accomplishment when you consider the caliber of teams competing," Quartuccio said.

Quartuccio said there were so many fans that some people carried bleachers from the other diamond to watch the game from behind the left field fence.

Perry Mead, which finished third last year in this tourney, came into the final day's play saddled with one defeat. But they swarmed their way through four tough opponents to emerge victorious.

Joe Thomas finished second and Dearborn's Telegraph Bar was third.

In the first game on the closing day of action, VFW Harris-Kehrer Post of Westland ousted Jack's Sport Center of Romulus, 10-5, after Jack's jumped up with four in the first inning.

Led at the plate by Dave Manos' homerun and Pat Brown's two singles, Jack's carried its 4-0 lead into the third. Then VFW Westland came to life.

VFW's batting attack, led by three singles each by Dave Walker, Mike Wilson and Denny Henn and a pair of doubles by Bob Briggs, pushed over three in the third to make it 4-3.

However, Jack's ended three scoreless innings by scoring one in the 5th to take a 5-3 lead into the bottom of the inning. VFW's single tally in the fifth left it on the short end of a 6-4 count.

But the pitching of VFW's Denny Henn, who allowed only one run the last six innings, inspired his teammates. They came to life again in the sixth with four big runs and added a pair in the top of the seventh to breeze home, 10-6.

Bill Wetmore, Jack's pitcher, had held the VFW batters to only four runs in the first five innings before

The Sports Meridian

Aruba: Where the action is

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

ARUBA, in the Netherlands Antilles - The natives don't take their sports serious in this quaint island which got on the map thanks to a Spanish seafarer Alonso de Ojeda who is credited for having discovered the island in about 1499.

"We like softball," said the instructive taxicab driver who maneuvered in and out of tourist traffic on the busy Oranjestad Blvd. in response to my "take me where the action is," plea.

"And, of course, we like baseball," the driver continued. "We follow all of the American teams in the newspaper - and that Billy Martin must be some character. Do you know Billy Martin?" he asked.

I replied that I did - and that I had interviewed him while he was the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

"Then you're a newspaper writer?" the driver asked.

"That's not what my readers say."

The driver, who spoke English well, also had an excellent command of Dutch, Spanish and Papiamentu - the island's home-grown language which has raided the three other languages and combined it with a native patois. In fact, the saying is that when they formed the new language that they had no word for worry - so if an Aruban wants to worry he has to do it in Dutch or Spanish or English.

"I can't understand you Americans," the driver said, "here you are on this lovely island and you want to go to a softball game. There are so many other things to do here - there are casinos, shopping centers with goods from Holland and Spain, swimming, snorkeling, sailing and fishing - do you know that on the northeast of the island, just a few miles off you can fish for sharks? How come you want to watch softball?"

"Well, friend, when I asked you 'to take me where the action is' I really didn't have softball in mind."

He turned the vehicle around and headed westend of the island where the casinos were going full blast.

Obviously one week in Aruba isn't enough, but it did appease this body. With the average daytime temperatures around 82 degrees and the nights cooler thanks to the trade winds, the island has become a paradise for vacationers.

Natives like to point out that "because of the pleasing and inviting weather, there is little crime on the island. In fact, there has been one murder in five years."

And when you consider that there are 40-some nationalities living together on this 19.6 miles long and six miles (at its widest point) island which is populated by some 60,000 people - that has to be some kind of miracle.

And another reason why there is little and no major crimes here is "because everyone works."

"Our people either work in the Lago refinery, or in the tourist industry or at the hotels and casinos. If you don't work, you don't eat," the taxicab driver informed me.

"But that's a socialist philosophy," I replied.

"We don't care what it is - it's better than the handout system you people in American America have. And, believe me, everyone on this island knows that work is important."

Guess he's right.

But I wished I had stayed and watched the softball games - it would have cost me less. How can a sports editor beat a man at blackjack when that guy plays the game for a living? Some people will never learn, will they?

Before we launch the football season, I would like to thank colleague Jim Bradley for handling the never-ending chores of the sports desk. As usual Jim did an exceptional job in covering the local sports scene.

Speaking of football, our "Special Football Preview" is getting ready for the presses and all athletic directors are urged to mail in their fall sports schedules. If there has been a change in the head coaching position, please note the new coach's home telephone number.

Coaches can help us by preparing rosters with names, weights, heights, grades and numbers of the members of the varsity squads. Catching up with some of the local sports stories - Rick Winekoff, who'll be a junior at Belleville this fall, earned worldwide wrestling accolades earlier in the month when he finished with a gold medal at the "World Schoolboys Wrestling Tournament" held in New Mexico. Rick beat his 160 1/4 counterpart from Argentina to win the world title. He also beat representatives from three other countries.

Winekoff has established himself as one of the finest wrestlers in Belleville's history and ranks with such greats as heavyweight

Queens of the softball diamond

It's been a very good year for Taster Freeze' women's softball team. The gals ran up an untainted 12-0 record in the Wayne Recreation Class A League to capture the 1978 championship. Owner Bill Ballou had in the winning line-up the following players: (Kneeling, from left) Elayne Blackwell, Earline Wyatt, Cherie Fargo, Rilla Thedford, Beth Tracy and Mary Trayner; second row are Kim Schwartz, Debbie Karznia, Ginny Hathorne, Renee Burnie, Stacy Sallus, Patty Thornberry, Wendy Reynolds, Jan Hartzler, Kathy Jankowicz and Coach JoAnn Hathorne.

Gals win 'a gem'

Studio retains title

Undefeated Studio Lounge had a slight scare before disposing of third-place VFW Bova Post, 6-4, to take the championship of the Westland Women's Softball League with a 14-0 record.

The low-scoring loss lowered VFW's mark to 10-4, a couple steps behind runnerup J & D Auto, who sported a fine 12-2 slate. Johnny's Shell walloped Token Lounge, 34-10, to take fourth place with a 9-5 record.

The only other .500 club in the 10-team league was Westland Lock and Key, who found the right "combination" in beating Westway Trucking, 17-11.

VFW only managed eight hits off the slants of winning pitcher Sharon Turflinger but combined them for four runs. Half of that number came in the bottom of the first as the VFW squad edged into a 2-1 lead.

However, Studio Lounge bounced right back with a trio of scores in the second and added single tallies in the third and fourth to build a 6-2 margin. Helping the league champs to their final margin were Turflinger, who drilled three singles, Jean Sisson, who also collected a trio of one-base hits, and Sharon Winkler who homered and singled in driving home three runs.

The Browns went to town for VFW. Mary Brown doubled and tripled in the losing effort, while Becky Brown singled twice and scored both times. Teammate Rhonda Dreher socked two singles for VFW, which added single runs in the fifth and seventh for the final 6-4 count.

VFW losing pitcher Sheryl Chomiuk scattered 14 Studio hits to keep the score close.

J & D Auto ripped Crestwood Dodge, 12-4, to get ready for the playoffs. Big bat nights by Rita Woods, Lisa Pocard and Pat Gross helped J & D score four in the first inning and five in the sixth for the win.

Woods swung a lot of lumber with three singles, Pocard added a homerun and two singles for four RBI's and Gross had a "net" result of one triple and a single.

Dolphins have 14 state swim champs

Jim McPartlin, the Dolphins' head swim coach, said he didn't know what to expect from his tankers before heading for the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state meet held recently in Wyoming, Mich.

Afterwards, when the veteran mentor counted up the number of first places he said he was "very pleased."

"This was our team's first appearance in the state meet," McPartlin noted, "so we really didn't know what to expect. However, our swimmers came away with 14 first place trophies and I'm really pleased at that showing."

Wayne captured first places in three relays and two individual events. (No team totals are kept.) The boys' 13-14 year old 200-yard medley relay team made up of Randy Ferguson, Mike Egan, Eric Head and Alan Jones won the state title in that event, while the 13-14 year old girls also had no peers for the medley relay.

McPartlin's foursome in that event included Lori Miles, Cathy Batterson, Mary Batterson and Lisa Mondock.

The Dolphins 15-17 year old 200-yard freestyle relay team composed of Karl Staber, Steve Thompson, Tom Brown and David Hills also was a winner.

Head was the top performer for the 50-yard breaststroke, while Cathy Batterson touched in first for the 50-yard backstroke.

The Dolphins' swim club is sponsored by the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department.

Pistons' Eberhard to host cage camp

3-day classes to be held in Belleville

Though the football season is just around the corner, scores of Belleville and area athletes will be thinking basketball this week.

Detroit Piston forward, Al Eberhard, will be setting up camp at the Berean Baptist Church, 6889 Belleville Rd., in Belleville.

The 6-6 ex-college All-Star from the University of Missouri is a four-year veteran with the Pistons and he'll be on hand to offer advice and display some of the skills that helped make him one of the finest ball players in the country.

Young men, ages 11 to 16, are invited to the camp which will be conducted beginning Thursday, Aug. 24 until Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Berean Baptist Church.

The camp will stress basketball basics and fundamentals.

Sessions will be held Thursday and Friday from 6 to 8:30 p.m. and 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

There is no admission charge, however, those who participate in the camp are urged to pre-register. They may do so by telephoning 699-2281 or 697-7150.

Extra inning drama

Big Bill's bows to Studio

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

It took eight innings to do it, but Studio Lounge beat Big Bill's, 14-7.

in the final playoff game to reign as undisputed Westland Men's Major Softball champions.

It was the rubber match between the two clubs who had split two earlier playoff games. Studio Lounge had erupted for 9 runs in the third inning to take the first game, 14-12, before Big Bill's exploded for 12 runs in the first frame of the second game and held on to barely eke out a 19-18 decision.

Those events set up the final playoff game.

Studio Lounge, with Ron Jones on the mound, jumped on losing hurler Lee Callaway for two runs in the first and four in the second for a 6-1 early lead. However, Big Bill's chipped away with single runs in the bottom of the second and third and added a pair in the fourth to narrow the gap to just 6-5 after four innings.

Both teams were held scoreless in the fifth and sixth games. Studio Lounge scored a single tally in the top of the seventh to lead, 7-5, but Big Bill's fought back with a pair and tied it 7-7 before Studio got the third out.

Callaway, who held Studio Lounge's potent bats in check with only one run from the third through the seventh inning, was roughed up for seven runs as Studio exploded in the top of the extra frame. By the time the dust cleared, Studio Lounge led, 14-7, and Jones shut out Big Bill's in the bottom of the eighth to preserve the lead and the championship.

Mike Kusutich, who started the winning 8th inning explosion for Studio Lounge, hit two homers over the fence and added a double in a fine 6-RBI performance. Teammates Dennis Kesick, who cleared the fence with one round-tripper and drilled two singles, and Charlie Petrillo, with a single, double and triple, set off most of the fireworks for Studio Lounge.

Heading the counter-attack were Big Bill's Ed McCahill and Don Chute, who each ripped three singles, and Callaway, who helped his own cause with a pair of singles and two runs batted in.

Studio collected 19 hits and Big Bill's 14 in the finale.

That championship game had been set up because of Big Bill's 19-18 win over Studio Lounge a few minutes earlier. In that slugfest, Studio Lounge had 21 hits, including three homers over the fence.

Big Bill's also had three over-the-fence round-trippers among their 20 safeties. Chris Murphy was the slugging star for Big Bill's, who opened the game with a big 12-run first inning. Murphy hit two homers over the fence and added a triple in driving home three runs in the game. Teammates Lee Callaway, the winning pitcher, who had two singles and a homerun, and Vern Westerlund, with a single, double and triple, starred at the plate.

Although Big Bill's scored 12 in the first, Studio blasted nine markers across in the top of the sixth to take an 18-17 lead. But Big Bill's was equal to the task, scoring single runs in the bottom of the sixth and seventh to win the game.

Dennis James, Dennis Kesick and Bud Daniels had fence-clearing homers for Studio Lounge in a losing effort.

Franklin starts cage, track drills

All Franklin Junior High seventh, eighth and ninth grade girls who are interested in playing basketball or competing in track are requested to report for practice on Monday, Aug. 28.

Cage Coach Kevin Schaum will hold initial practice sessions beginning at 9 a.m., while track coach Linda Jimenez is asking all potential track and field team members to report at 9:30 a.m.

For further information, contact the school.

Broncos gallop past Wayne's 'A' champ

Unheralded Broncos, getting balance hitting from its line-up, jarred Hof-Braun, one of the top teams in the Wayne Class A men's softball league.

Striking for four runs in the second inning, the Broncos went on to whip their rivals 11-1 thanks to a 14-hit assault paced by former All-Area ball player, Don Canfield and Gary Tilson.

Canfield sliced two doubles and a single, driving home two runs, while Tilson laced three singles and a double — good for two RBIs. Gary Knapp chipped in a pair of singles, while Dave Kempianen singled and doubled.

Winning pitcher Curt Wiitamer helped his cause with a two-run single. He also gave up five hits, two of those to Gary Schewe. Larry Quartuccio's first inning single drove in the loser's only run.

In other Class A action, Burghuff Bar held off Garden City Sporting Goods 17-8 after the losers exploded for seven runs in the third inning to take a 7-5 lead. The barmen retaliated with five runs in the sixth and seven in the last inning to settle the issue.

Norm Beasley, Doug Reid and Dave Seamen each had three hits for the winners and Dave Conlin drilled a homer, singled and drove in five runs off of losing pitcher Joe Kadlec. Kadlec, who produced a pair of runs with his single, also gave up run-scoring hits to Bob Jaskolski and Mike Plagens.

Elmer Daniels collected three hits, Jeff Edmunds and Joe Files split four for the losers who amassed 11 hits off of winner, Jaskolski.

In a Class A playoff game, Hof Braun broke a 3-all deadlock in the bottom of the seventh to edge Garden City Sports 4-3. Jim Hubbs compiled three hits for the winners, missing to hit for the cycle when he failed to homer. Dennis Cowell, the winner, gave up nine hits, two each to Dave Stanse and Terry Kadlec. Though he gave up three hits less than his counterpart, Rick Moore sustained the loss.

Burghuff erupted for seven runs in the fifth inning to corral the Broncos 9-5 in another playoff game. The Broncos got 12 off of winning hurler Jaskolski who gave up two singles apiece to Gary Knapp, Chris Drake and Fred Arrington.

Wiitamer took the loss as Dean Minton blasted a pair of round-trippers and a single to chase home five of the runs. Gary Pierce had a single and triple and Corky Hayes, Jaskolski and Doug Reid each checked in with two hits apiece.

Unistrut, recently crowned the Class B league champ, discovered that the playoff series is a whole new season. The champs dropped their second straight playoff decision as the Knights of Columbus rallied to a 9-6 victory. Bob Komander did much of the damage to the champs' bid for a second title this season. Komander pounded out three singles which accounted for three runs. Teammates Tom Veberrath and Brenden Heaney each had two runs apiece.

Winning pitcher Kevin Heaney gave up 14 hits, one less than loser Jeff Hogan who homered and singled for his team. Chuck Truskowski had three singles and Mark Meritt checked in with two hits.

J & J also knocked off Unistrut 7-4 behind Brewis' 10-hit pitching effort. Brewis helped himself out with a homer while teammate Ken Marhle cracked a two-run rountripper.

Losing pitcher Jeff Hogan accounted for three of his team's 10 hits, getting a double, and two singles. Krajenke Auto Leasing came back from a 4-3 third inning deficit to put down Jakes and Jakes 15-6. Krajenke got three hits, including a homer from Bob McCarthy while Gerry Allen chipped in three singles. Mike Gentile, Bill Coleman and Kevin Schaum each had two hits.

Coleman, the winner, scattered 13 hits, two each to Robert Lindon, Rick Brewis, Tom Schmieder and Bill Brewis. Randy Butcher got the lone homer of the game.

Westland's Thomas reigns as Red Division champions

Joe Thomas ended the season undefeated and wound up taking the Westland Men's Red Division championship by one game over Century 21 as Joe Cooley hurled a 4-0 shutout against Who Cares.

Meanwhile, Century 21 was eking out a 12-11 nail-biter against ninth-place Tom Maceri for its second-place record of 11-1.

Who Cares finished third with an 8-mark and All Star Sports clinched fourth with a 23-6 pounding of Jamie's for a 7-5 record. Crabbie Joe's lost to Playmate Lounge, 19-13, as those two squads tied for fifth spot with identical 6-6 slates.

Joe Cooley showed Who Cares that he really cared in elbowing his slants past his opponents for an extremely rare shutout, 4-0, on just eight hits. His opponent on the hill, Ted Rize, also allowed just eight safeties, but Joe Thomas countered four times.

Rize, John Voslon and Terri Patterson each had two singles for scoreless Who Cares. Tom DeMara had two singles and Jim Ferrari and Bob Tomasewski each homered for Thomas, whose season mark was 12-0.

Two runs in the first and single tallies in the fifth and sixth was the only scoring in the game.

Century 21 just missed the top rung with its 12-11 victory over Tom Maceri and 11-1 record. Bob Fullerton, Carl Betke and Larry Michalek each had two singles and a double to pace Century 21.

Erik Radcliff had a field day for Maceri, ripping two singles, a triple and homerun in driving home two teammates. Ray Brewer collected three singles and a double and Gary Warden drilled three singles in Maceri's 22-hit attack. Century had 19 safeties.

Fullerton was the winning pitcher while Tony Kierschke took the loss.

Ron Stokes had the right stroke in drilling four singles and a double for 4 RBIs as All-Star Sports ripped Jamie's, 23-6. Mates Gary Swain (two singles and two doubles) and Ernie White (four singles) also shot holes in Jamie's defensive alignment.

Swain drove home three runs for winning pitcher Doug Morrison. Mark Neracher had two singles for Jamie's and Gary Davies added a single and double.

All-Star Sports blasted out 33 hits in the romp, with Mike Walker denting the plate five times and Bob Dehart scoring three.

Playmate Lounge rode three big innings to its 19-13 win over Crabbie Joe's. Six runs each in the second and fifth and five in the fourth carried Playmate to victory.

Dave MacDonald had a single, double and triple; Carl Towne drilled three doubles and Jim Graham bounced two singles and a double to pace the win. Teammates Dean Minton and Larry Steffan scored four and three runs, respectively.

Playmate Lounge backed up winning pitcher Minton with a 20-hit barrage and Crabbie Joe's ripped 19 bingles, not enough in support of losing hurler, Greg Kelley.

Crabbie Joe's was led by Tom Doupe, Dan Behrendt and Tim Hopp, who each had a double and two singles. Tom Hartell and Kelley each scored twice.

Lemontree to host racquetball tourney

What is believed to be the richest ever amateur ladder racquetball tournament is now underway at the Sports Illustrated Court Clubs in Belleville at Lemontree.

Local players will be eligible for a total of $23,000 in prizes — $6,500 at each club and $10,000 in the final playoff covering winners in the entire SICC chain.

Members may enter the ladder tournament any time up to August 30.

The chain-wide eliminations will begin October 6, at the SICC-Lemontree club, site of the recent U.S. Racquetball Association national championships.

Prizes will be awarded at each club to the top six players in each of 10 categories.

A prize will also be awarded to the player below sixth place who "tried the hardest" by making the most attempts to move up the ladder.

Billiard tourney to help Easter Seals

The tri-county Easter Seal societies and the Cushion 'N' Cue Recreation Centers have joined hands this year to promote the 1978 National Billiards news open straight pool championships for men and women.

The tournament is expected to attract some of the finest pool players in the United States, including such notables as four-time U.S. Open Champion Steve Mizerak from New Jersey, Mark Beilfuss, an 18 year old champion from Grand Rapids, Michigan; Mike Garella, Tallahassee and Flora and Dick Lane from Dallas, Texas.

Two-time world champ Ray Martin from Fairlawn, N.J. and former U.S. Open champ Dallas West from Loves Park, Ill. will be playing along with Joe Balsis of Minersville, Pa.

Local players Dave Charette from Allen Park and Don Wilson from Redford and others will comprise a field of twenty men.

The tournament will be held at the Cushion 'N' Cue Recreation Center, 27630 Schoolcraft in Livonia. The action will begin on Friday evening, Sept. 1 and continue through Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

There will be afternoon and evening play. A percentage of the ticket sales will be donated to the Tri-County Easter Seal Societies for the benefit of crippled children and adults.

Advance tickets are available at any Cushion 'N' Cue location. The Ivory Palace in Waterford township, Fraser Cue Club in Fraser, Saffron Billiard Supplies in Royal Oak and Q Master Billiard Supplies in Berkley.

The two tournaments combined will have a total prize fund of over $8,000.00.

For additional information, call Cushion 'N' Cue at (313) 422-9510 or Easter Seal coordinator Joyce Thomas at (313) 338-9626.

Tennis tourney champs

The Wayne World Women's Tennis League, which involves 16 Wayne residents who play tennis each Tuesday morning, held its annual singles' tournament and Lois Beyer (from left) won the Division I title by defeating Mary Porter. Mrs. Porter was runner-up, while Pat Hunt lost to Veronica Gross (fourth from left) in the Division II title match. Meanwhile, in the Wayne Students Tennis League, (below), Del Reddy (second from right) defeated Alan Spencer for top honors. Also pictured is league director Larry Wood (at right). The students' league is for 12 to 17 year olds and 14 residents used the opportunity to improve on their tennis skills. The men's tennis league met Tuesday nights and ended the season with a tournament that saw Greg Boliard lose the championship to Michael Tinnon in a close match. No photo was available of the champ and runner-up.

Westland Warriors win Blue Division

Champs post 11-1 record during '78 campaign

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Westland Warriors defeated Answering Service, 11-9, to win the Westland Men's Blue Division softball title with an 11-1 record.

Answering Service got a "busy signal" from Warriors' bats as the champs pounded out 15 hits and came up with four runs in the bottom of the seventh to claim the game.

However, Answering Service "recorded" a 6-2 lead with four runs in the top of the fourth. But the Warriors retaliated with three in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the seventh to wrap up the title.

Pacing the Blue Division champs were Paul Lapinski with two doubles and a triple; Chuck Ruthig with two triples, and Jim Devlon with two singles. Larry McConnell was the winning hurler and Ron Brock suffered the loss.

Quo Vadis didn't leave things status quo as it pounded Jake's Lounge, 12-5, to tie that club for third spot with 8-4 records. Quo Vadis' winning hurler Mark Bjeck limited Jake's to just eight hits and only Jake's 5-run fourth inning spoiled his shutout.

Al Pulk and Jim Kolodziej each touched Bjeck for two singles to lead Jake's. On the other bench, Bjeck was as good with his bat as with his arm, hammering three singles and a homer while driving in four runs.

Sam Van Hagen's double and homer and Clark Johnson's two singles helped mates Mike Strickler and Jim Moriarty score three and one run, respectively.

In the other tilt, Unwants made Roeder's Tropical feel unwanted in pounding out a 14-4 victory. Tens runs in the fifth and sixth innings did the most damage as Unwants totaled 14 hits. Steve Tolbert hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homerun—to pace Unwants' attack by driving in three runs.

Tim Thorton drilled two doubles and a single and John Murray socked a double and triple in making things easy for winning pitcher Mike Chartier, who allowed only six hits Roeder's four runs in the fifth spoiled Chartier's bid for a shutout.

Mike Schaffrath and Mike Hodges scored three and two runs, respectively, for Unwants.

In the Community Organizational League, J.C. Gold Chips, with a 10-2 record, barely got by J.C. Blue Chips, 13-12, in nine innings.

J.C. Blue, sporting a dismal 2-10 mark, scored eight runs in the top of the sixth to take an 11-8 lead but J.C. Gold came up with a trio of markers in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

After a scoreless eighth, J.C. Blue scored once in the top of the ninth, but Gold tallied twice to win the game. J.C. Gold pounded out 18 hits, one more than the losers.

Bob Alves four singles and four RBI's paced the winners and he was aided by Ron Zuber's two singles and homerun, and two singles from the bat of Dave Miller.

J.C. Blue batters were led by Mike Mushett's two singles and homer, and three singles from both George Blom and Larry Griffin. Mike Kehrer was the winning pitcher and Tony Rosati lost the heartbreaker.

Golfing through

The Wayne Parks and Recreation Department's Junior Golf program helped a score of young golfers improve their game while enjoying the summer months. Those who took part in instructor Bob Wood's classes included:

Young golfers learn from Wayne program

An 8-week golf program, sponsored by the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department, helped scores of young linksmen learn more about the sport.

"Those who participated in the program learned a lot, I felt," said Bob Wood, who was instructor of the course. "And, the kids had a wonderful time. We played several area golf courses and they got a good handle on what it takes to golf well."

At the end of the 8-week session, the participants competed in a tournament, each receiving a handicap. Tim Porter, who shot a 69 (13 stroke handicap for a net 56) captured medalist honors. Labeled the "Big Mac Tournament", the champs were feted to the famed burger.

In the runnerup slot was Tom Larson who had a 59 (0 handicap), third place was Brent Murch with a 74 (less 14 handicap), followed by Tim Gilbert (62), Steve Miller (63) and Todd D'Pulos (80, less 15 strokes).

The tournament was staged at the Par 3 Lower Huron Park Golf Course. The young golfers also played Shady Hollow, Fox Hills and Fellows Creek.

Stroke averages for the over-all program for 9-holes were: D'Pulos-57, Gilbert-47, Lamphiere-55, Larson-45, Miller-44, Murch-57, Porter-55, and Troy Sandy-55.

Keith Simons who went on to captain the University of Minnesota's football team.

In a separate item, Pauline Brandenburg of Westland is seeking bowlers who are blind or partially-sighted persons for a league which would play either out of the Bowlarama on 7 Mile and Telegraph or one of the area lanes.

"We had approximately 20 bowlers last year," Pauline said, "and we are looking for new members. They must be either blind or partially-sighted to take part."

Pauline also said that though the league bowled out of Bowlarama a year ago, officials are looking for an area lane so that the league members wouldn't have to travel so far.

If you're interested, please contact Pauline at 722-4664.

Oh, that first column after vacation has to be the toughest.

Wayne sets 5-mile race

There will be a 5-mile run in conjunction with the Wayne Fall Festival and there will be winners in each of six divisions for men and women categories.

The race will take place on Sunday, Sept. 17 at 11 a.m. and there is a 50 cents registration fee. Plaques will be awarded to first and second place finishers in each division.

Certificates will be presented to all those who finish and further information about the race may be obtained by telephoning 722-2000.

Perry Mead wins Anderson Memorial softball crown

he was roughed up for six runs in the sixth and seventh.

Then came a real highlight of the day—a game between Telegraph Bar, which finished 12-2 for the regular season in Dearborn, and Joe Thomas, undefeated in the Westland League.

The two powerhouses squared off in the finals of the winners' bracket and Joe Thomas took a low-scoring, 7-5 win to advance to the championship game. Telegraph Bar was relegated to the losers' bracket.

Despite the apparent power of both teams' attack, both pitchers did a very commendable job. Winning Thomas' hurler, Joe Cooley, held Dearborn's crew to only 10 hits in fashioning the 7-5 victory. On the other hand, pitcher Craig Droncheff of Dearborn held Joe Thomas to 12 hits.

Joe Thomas trailed only once in the game, 2-1, going into the bottom of the third. Then their bats came alive and they scored two runs in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings to take a 7-3 lead, not safe by any means. But Cooley, who was real "cool", blanked the visitors in the fifth and sixth before allowing a pair of meaningless runs in the top of the seventh.

Leading Joe Thomas' attack were Rick Wheeler, with a single and triple; Jim Ferbari, a single and double, and Jim Tromer, Bob Tomaszewski and Bob Thaxton with two singles apiece.

For Telegraph Bar, Jon Hiltz and John Palmer each had two singles. Then Perry Mead began its four-game charge to the championship. The sandblasters from Garden City pounded out 13 hits in downing Westland VFW, 9-7.

Mead took a 4-0 lead into the fifth inning as the Garden City hurler, Roger Dery, handcuffed the Westland contingent completely.

However, VFW came alive in the top of the fifth with two runs, but Mead's five big scores in the home half of the inning increased its lead to 9-2.

Wayne's Maxi-League All-Stars

cause. James also had three singles, Kesick added two singles and a double, and Daniels stroked a single and double in the softball fireworks. Dennis James and Mike Kusutich each scored three runs for the losers.

Dick Saylor and Tim Abramski each tallied twice for Big Bill's. It was Studio Lounge's first loss of the playoffs and, as it turned out, its only defeat of post-season play.

In an earlier playoff game, Studio Lounge rode a 9-run third inning to a 14-12 win over its arch-rival, Big Bill's. Bud Adams was the slugging standout in this contest as the muscular swinger hit three over the fence in driving home five Studio teammates. Charlie Petrillo also "hit one out" and added two singles, while Jim Kholmman ripped two singles and a double.

Dennis Kesick picked up the win on the mound and Steve Patterson was the loser.

For Big Bill's, ever-dangerous Vern Westerlund stroked three singles to go with Larry Shepard's homer and single and Lee Calloway's single and homerun into outer space.

In other closing action, Shoppe Around had two 4-run innings in ripping Krajenke, 11-5. Winning hurler Larry Holt stopped the Automen with just nine hits while his mates were combining losing pitcher Darryl Gunter for 15 safeties. Gunter had a single and triple, Steve Gordon had a single and double and Jim Garron a single for Krajenke.

Barry Anderson stroked four singles for Shoppe Around and Dennis Reitz and Steve Reitz each ripped a pair of singles.

The victory gave Shoppe Around the right to be walloped 20-4 by Big Bill's Sports as the winners collected 23 hits to the losers' nine. Big Bill's overcame a 2-0 deficit in the second with a six-run outburst, added two in the third, three in the fourth and sealed Shoppe Around's doom with nine more tallies in the bottom of the sixth.

Winning pitcher Lee Callaway helped his own cause with a fence-clearing homer, a single and triple for three RBI's. Mate Perry Pappas also cleared the barrier for a round-tripper to go with his single and double and Hugh Gill stroked a double and two singles.

For Shoppe Around, Barry Anderson again had a big day, ripping three singles while Dennis Reitz added two one-basers and Ron Van Horn had one.

Gals get a scare, though

Studio Lounge retains title

one, paced Crestwood Dodge.

Johnny's Shell stepped on the gas in racing to an unmerciful 34-10 pounding of Token Lounge. Token Lounge put up only token resistance as Johnny's exploded for five runs in the first, eight in the second, only two in the third and 17 in a wild fourth frame before adding another pair in the fifth.

Something unusual happened in the sixth, Johnny's didn't score.

Leading the merry-go-round for Johnny's Shell were Nancy McMahon (two doubles and three singles for three RBI's), Christal Minton (who had a "ball" (Christal Ball) with a homer, double and two singles) and Karen Austin with two doubles, one homer and four RBI's.

Token Lounge scored eight big runs in the bottom of the sixth. Leading their team's attack were Linda Smith and Judy Dowds with two singles each and Peggy Carney with a three-run homer. Johnny's picked up 26 hits while Token was strokin' nine safeties.

Westland Lock and Key's 10-run explosion in the bottom of the fifth helped them bolt in front of Westway Trucking for a 17-11 victory.

The win gave Westland Lock and Key a 7-7 mark for the year, good enough for fifth place.

Lock and Key opened the door to victory with three runs in the bottom of the third for a 3-0 lead. But Westway was really trucking in the fourth, rolling up five runs to lead 5-3.

Lock and Key retaliated with four in the bottom of the frame to go back on top, 7-5, before Westway exploded for half a dozen scores in the top of the fifth frame for an 11-7 margin.

That's when Lock and Key picked on Westway for 10 runs and won in masterful style. Debbie Whitson (homer, triple and single), Donna Fisher (two singles and two RBI's) and Karen Holt (two singles) paced Westland Lock and Key.

Westway Trucking's Pam Cramer had two singles and a double; Cathy Coatsworth had a single and double, and Cindy Howell added a homer and single for four runs batted in. Winning pitcher Tammy Mauno decided Pam Cramer in the slugfest.

In the other game, Power Packs matched Hudson's Westland with 17 hits, but Hudson's squeezed one more run from their total in winning, 9-8. In fact, Power Packs led most of the way until a final 3-run seventh gave Hudson's the victory.

Hudson's scored two in the bottom of the first, but two in the second and three in the third gave Power Packs a 5-2 margin until Hudson's closed it to 5-4 after four.

Power Packs held an 8-6 lead going into the bottom of the 7th inning but Hudson's pushed over three runs for its final 9-8 margin. Doris Madar was the winning pitcher while Barb McRoberts was tagged with the loss.

Barb Wray's single, double and triple paced the winners and she was aided by Terri McKnight's three singles, plus two singles and a double off the bat of Dinae Canales.

Meanwhile, the other bench was cheering for Tonya Riggs' three singles plus a triple and two singles by Kathy Gillette and two singles and a double by Sandy Clarke.

No one needed tips on operating a hand fan efficiently.

Back in the days before high-speed fans and air conditioners, a lot of people depended on hand fans and cold lemonade to keep them cool during hot summer months. And quite frankly, there wasn't much you had to know about operating efficiency. Today, with convenient modern air conditioners, most people can keep cool with the push of a button. But air conditioners are a major electrical appliance. So, to keep them running efficiently and economically you have to maintain and use them properly. That's why Detroit Edison offers you the following air conditioning tips. Keep the air filter clean. Close all windows and shade out hot sunlight. Check to see that nothing blocks the flow of cool air. Always keep your air conditioner on a moderate setting, and on central units, set your thermostat at an appropriate comfort level but no lower than 75° By following these simple tips you can keep cool, conserve energy and save a lot of money. Enough money to keep you well stocked in lemonade. For more information, call or stop in at any Detroit Edison Customer Office.

56 runners take part in Wayne marathon

Rick Blaha, considered one of the finest distance runners in Wayne Memorial's history, won the inaugural Wayne Marathon.

Blaha, an 18-year-old, toured a five-mile course through the streets of southern Wayne in a fast 26 minutes, 21 seconds to win his division and also cross the finish line ahead of 56 other runners who had gathered for the initial race.

Rick's closest rival was former teammate Doug Tolson who was clocked in the second best time (26:25), while Kevin Miller, also a former Wayne harrier, turned in a 27:58 performance for third place.

The 56 runners were divided into age groups and trophies were awarded to winners of each division.

Blaha was not only the over-all winner, but also the top runner for the 15-18 age group. Miller earned the trophy for the 19-30 year olds, while Kevin Rodriguez had the best effort for the 12-14 year old runners. Lynn Bruce (31-45), G. Sorge (46 and over) and Kreig McKee (11 and under) also were divisional winners. Meanwhile, Kathy Weyand finished first with a 33:37 to post the best time of any female runner. The 18-year-old Wayne High athlete beat out Kathy Sullivan, 22, for over-all honors. Ms. Sullivan covered the course in 38:56 to become the recipient of the first place trophy for the 19-30 age group. Fourteen-year-old Sandy Porter led the pack for the 12-14 year olds as she crossed the finish line in 53:45.

The Wayne Parks and Recreation Department, sponsors of the initial marathon, announced that it will also organize a five-mile run in conjunction with the Fall Festival, scheduled for September.

Here are the results of the inaugural 5-mile run:

1. Rick Blaha (18)-26:21; 2. Doug Tolson (16)-26:25; 3. Kevin Miller (19)-27:58; 4. Ron Mason (18)-28:24; 5. Brian Watson (20)-28:56; Paul Spencer (17)-30:35; Mike Brewis (18)-31:04; Lynn Bruce (37)-31:47; Dave Rose (17)-32:07; Andy Stopchinski (15)-33:26; Kathy

They're the best in Maxi-League

Annapolis rally in 7th to edge Burrough's

Tie-breaker decides Wayne Class C softball championship

After finishing the regular season with identical records, Annapolis Auxilliary and Burrough's Bruins were forced to settle their title differences in Wayne's Class C men's softball league with a "tiebreaker".

The showdown at Anderson Field produced some nailbiting moments for Annapolis fans, but a 7-run, seventh inning outburst by Annapolis was just too much for the Bruins who surrendered the title to their arch-rivals by virtue of an 18-10 setback.

The Bruins took an early 3-1 lead after two innings, but Annapolis tied it up at 3-all in its third, went ahead 4-3 and appeared well out of danger thanks to a seven-run fifth. But Burrough chopped away at the Annapolis lead with three runs in the fifth and put their final four runs on the board in the sixth.

Both winning pitcher Johnny Sims and loser Barry Good gave up 13 hits apiece, but Sims' teammate Dan Goodwin drilled two roundtrippers and a single, driving in six big runs, while Rick Baldwin also got to Good for a homer and a couple of singles which produced three runs.

Tony Garfolye had an excellent day at the plate for the losers as he laced a homer and latched on to two doubles, knocking in three runs. Tony Orischak homered and singled for two RBIs.

Burroughs earned a right to meet Annapolis for the championship by eliminating Michigan Bell from the running 13-12. Burroughs broke a 12-all deadlock with the decisive run in the bottom of the seventh.

Doug Moffat survived a 19-hit Michigan Bell assault, giving up four singles to Harry Smith and three safeties to Clarence Bereat.

Rick Fontaine was charged with the loss. He served up a homer and a pair of singles to Ty Jennings who drove in two runs. Teammate Gary Cookfield belted a single and double.

In the opening round of the Class C playoff, Michigan Bell bounced back and stunned the newly-crowned champ, Annapolis, 13-9, as Joe Cooley tossed a 14-hitter.

Loser Bob Billig had his problems with Scott Brown whose homer and triple accounted for five RBIs. Tim Larson collected four singles while Cooley helped his cause with a pair of doubles and a single.

Meanwhile, the Bruins survived an upset-minded Century 21, winning a 8-4 decision to advance in the second round.

Doug Moffit, the wiming hurler, was tagged for 12 hits, including three singles by Al Kirchoff and a pair of base hits by Dan Whitner.

Jennings got to loser Wally Rohn for two roundtrippers and had three RBIs, while Dale Bullock checked in with four hits, including two doubles and Gary Lipowski hammered out two hits.

Upset jars Canton men's golf league

Sam Natoli and John Mogelnicki stunned previous Canton Golf League leaders Ray Horrey and Jim Gabriel by swiping 4½ points in their match last week.

And that upset lifted Natoli and his partner, Mogelnicki, into second place while Chuck Sheets and Merph Eminger, who shut out their rivals Riggs and Rehberg moved into the top berth thanks to a total of 20½ points.

Jim Gabriel, Paul Pberhelman and Jim Young meanwhile played their best rounds of the season as all three Canton golfers turned in with 41s.

The standings after five weeks are: Eminger-Sheets 20½, Natoli-Mogelnicki 19½, Horrey-Gabriel 18, Kraft-Valenti 18, Oberhelman-Mattingly 16½, McGee-Johnson 15½, Canning-Young 15, Argonis-

Lapierre 14½, Ponte-Ponte 13½, Lawrence-Logsdon 13, Rehberg-Riggs 11½, Watt-Lindley 11, Koers-Koers 10½, Glover-Shirk 10½, Ryan-White 9½, Brock-Taylor 8½, Stuebben-Seewald 7½, Lyndrup-Lally 7, Hoffman-Yuchas 6½, and Pietryka-Slade 3.

Last week's scores were: Watts-Lindley 4, Koers-Koers 1; McGee-Johnson 5, Brock-Taylor 0; Kraft-Valenti 3½, Lapierre-Argonis 1½; Lawrence-Logsdon 4½, Lally-Lyndrup ½; Eminger-Sheets 5, Riggs-Rehberg 0; Oberhelman-Mattingly 4½, Ryan-White ½; Mogelnicki-Natoli 4½, Horrey-Gabriel ½; Shirk-Glover 4, Ponte-Ponte 1; Canning-Young 3, Slade-Pietryka 2; Hoffman-Yuchas 3½, Seewald-Stuebben 1½.

Will anyone catch Vickery and Beggs?

It looks like Floyd Vickery and Bill Beggs have the 1978 Canton Parks and Recreation senior golf league title in the bag.

With nine weeks of competition behind them, Vickery and Beggs have amassed 84 points and lead their nearest challengers, Judy Bond and Ralph Dietz by 19 points. The pacesetters have 84 points to their credit while Bond and Dietz have 65.

Seated third in the standings are Emma and Gary Aleman who have 62 points, followed by the team of Marge Campbell and Hilda Hayden (40) and Skip Keller and Milton Roettger (34).

Meanwhile, Ginnie Johnson took over the lead in the women's golf league as she maintained a one-point cushion over Mary Kay Frey who moved into that spot previously occupied by defending champ, Bev Green.

Mrs. Johnson has 24 points as compared to Frey's 23 and Green's 22.

Other scores include: Titiu Himelberger (21), Pauline Pryor (21), Silvia Dickinson (20), Denise Chapman (18), Estelle Heidt (18), Helen McGee (17) and Lou Skotzte (16).

Also in the field are Betty Lowing (15), Diedre Vesnaugh (14), Irene Karnish (14), Betty McDougall (13), Marge Trapp (11), Mary Jane Faussett (10), Flossie Tonda (6), Marge Mogelnicki (6) and Kathy Freese (5).

Ex-Prep grid stars check in at GVSC

All-Area gridgers Bill Lee, Paul Svabik and Steve Borgelt - all from Westland - are among 83 candidates who will be vying for starting positions for the 1978 football season at Grand Valley State.

BILL LEE

Lee is a quarterback, while Svabik alternated as a linebacker and a fullback. Borgelt played defensive tackle. All played for Westland John Glenn.

Grand Valley Coach Jim Harkema will welcome a group of 40 lettermen back from last year's squad which had a 7-3 record and won the Great Lakes Conference football title.

GVSC will open its regular season on Sept. 9, hosting Northeastern Illinois at Grand Valley.

by Chet Kosin

A car's instrument panel contains either an ammeter or warning light to alert you to changes in the condition of the electrical system. An ammeter needle measures the rate of charge and discharge while a warning light merely registers discharge. If it lights while the engine is running, more electricity is being drawn than is being replaced. Have a service technician check all the fan belts. They may be loose or broken. The cost of a new fan belt is much less than the cost of a new alternator, voltage regulator, or battery.

For fast, efficient engine repair service, bring your car to KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! Our machine shop is fully equipped to handle the most challenging repair problems. We work on all sizes and types of engines from motorcycle to Diesel, including automotive, marine, industrial, agricultural, etc. All work is done on the premises by experienced mechanics.
